SCHMIDT CRAVES ELECTRIC CHAIR

Renegade Priest in New York Chafing Under the Delay.

A BELIEVER IN ATHANASIA

Investigation Opens Up Various Avenues of Prisoner's Possible Criminal Activities in New York and Elsewhere.

New York, Sept. 19—Hans Schmidt, slayer of Anna Aumuller, asked for death in a statement today.

"The district attorney wants me to go to the electric chair and I want to go," he said, "what's the use of delaying?"

Schmidt afterward expressed ideas on the taking of human life that fitted in with the theory of Inspector Faurot, in charge of the murder investigation, that the renegade priest might have been planning a series of homicides. He declared himself a believer in athanasia and that he would be doing right in taking the lives of the crippled and of persons undergoing mental or physical suffering, detectives who talked with him this afternoon reported.

"I believe I would be carrying out God's will," Schmidt said, "if I put out of this world all such people. I would end their lives without their suffering any pain."

Faurot's suspicions of Schmidt's possible homicide plans were strengthened by the discovery among Schmidt's effects of a book of physicians' certificates and other blanks necessary in disposing of the dead. Schmidt declared that these were only for use in the case of Anna Aumuller. He had stolen the certificates from a reputable physician uptown, he told the detectives, but he had intended to kill the girl in a way that would make it appear she had died a natural death. But afterwards he had decided to cut her throat and dispose of her body as best he could.

Schmidt Marvelous Criminal.

"Schmidt's papers have given us 50 clues," said Faurot today, "any one of which is liable to turn up something new about his activities. His industry was amazing and his resourcefulness wonderful. But I am unable to say how whether we caught him at the beginning or at the end of a series of homicides."

The parts of Anna Aumuller's body that were picked up in the Hudson river and kept in Hoboken for the inquest of the New Jersey authorities, held last night, were brought to this city today and placed in the Bellevue morgue. A coroner's examination of the body preparatory to the New York inquest will be held tomorrow.

"What's the difference if I killed one or half a dozen?" said Schmidt this afternoon.

It was the first opportunity the newspaper men had been given to talk with the prisoner, and in the interview the priest made a number of startling statements.

Demands Electric Chair.

"Why don't you be quick and put me in the electric chair?" he demanded. "The district attorney wants me to go to the electric chair and I want to go and what's the use of all this delay? I am sorry for any one who thinks this life is worth living. I have faced death many a time and I will face death in the electric chair without moving a muscle."

Schmidt was asked about the murder of Alma Kelner, in Louisville.

"I could convince the Louisville authorities that I murdered that little girl," he asserted, "but that would be false and laughable."

Investigating the past of Ernest Muret, the dentist friend of Schmidt, implicated with Schmidt in counterfeiting operations, Inspector Faurot had this to say:

Tracing Up Muret.

"I have learned that Dr. Muret was in Chicago at the time of the investigation into the life of Johann Hoch, the 'blue beard' of Chicago, in 1905. Hoch was arrested in that year after it was charged he had killed 18 of his wives. There was a report that the number of wives would reach 50."

No charge in connection with Aumuller's death has been made against Muret, nor has a charge of counterfeiting been made against him. Muret is in the Tombs awaiting sentence for having violated the Sullivan law in having a pistol in his possession.

The Hoch Case.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Johann Hoch was hanged here February 13th, 1906, for the murder of his wife, Marie Walcker Hoch, in 1905, by the administration of poison. It developed after his arrest that for 19 years he had made a business of marrying women, deserting and murdering some, the motive in each case being to obtain life insurance or other property of his victim. It was well established that in 19 years he married 12 women, of whom four deceased under circumstances which left little doubt that they had been poisoned.

Investigation lagged after the execution of Hoch, but the conviction remained in the minds of police and lawyers concerned in his prosecution that the record of his crimes as unearthed by detectives was far from complete.

M'NAUGHTON CASE.

All day Argument Before Governor Slaton in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 19.—Whether Dr. W. J. McNaughton, under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Flanders, will pay the extreme penalty on October 3rd, or receive the pardon for which he has petitioned, now rests with Governor John M. Slaton. Arguments for and against the petition today were heard by the Governor, the audience lasting almost the entire day.

DIAZ CONFIDENT OF HIS CANDIDACY

Library of Congress

No Official Report as Yet But Is at Paris Waiting.

REPORT ON MADERO'S DEATH

Military Court's Decision Pronounced Farce—Refugees Receive Cold Comfort—Fighting Reported From Outposts.

Paris, Sept. 19.—General Felix Diaz, who has just returned here from Biarritz, told the Associated Press today that he had seen dispatches from Mexico City in the Paris newspapers announcing that he had been summoned back to Mexico by President Huerta, but that this was all he knew about the matter. Thus far, he said, he had received no order to recall and would remain in Paris until he did so, holding himself in readiness to start at a moment's notice.

"I am a soldier and always am prepared to go anywhere at any time in obedience to my superiors when I am ordered," added General Diaz.

Asked if President Huerta would support his candidacy for chief executive of Mexico, General Diaz replied that General Huerta would take no interest in the election beyond that of seeing it properly carried out. He seemed confident, however, of the success of his candidacy, for which he declared his friends in Mexico were now working hard. He also was optimistic with regard to the situation in general in Mexico and thought that everything now pointed to the early re-establishment of peace.

During his stay in Europe, General Diaz has been in poor health. He complained that he had never recovered from the rigors of his three months' imprisonment in an underground cell in the old Spanish prison in Vera Cruz after his unsuccessful attempt to foment a revolution of last year.

According to one of his secretaries, General Diaz believes that coldness shown him during his trip up the Pacific coast to VanCouver was due more to suspicion of the motives of his mission to Japan than to any antagonism by the people because of the part he took in the overthrow of Madero. He said General Diaz had asserted that friendship for the United States would be one of the cardinal points of his policy should he attain the Presidency of the Mexican republic.

Congress Vetoed Appointment.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The Mexican Congress last night vetoed by a vote of 90 to 14 Provisional President Huerta's appointment of Eduardo Tamariz as Minister of Public Instruction, according to a report today to the State Department. Tamariz is one of the younger leaders of the Catholic party, which is avowedly in favor of electing General Huerta President.

Madero's Death.

Mexico City, Sept4 19.—The deaths of the late President Francisco I. Madero and Vice President Jose Maria Pino Suarez were not brought about by a punishable crime, according to a decision pronounced by the military court here today. The investigation lasted six months. It was started by the military commandant of the Federal district immediately on the conclusion of the ten days' battle in the streets of Mexico City last year which resulted in President Huerta coming into power.

The result of the commandant's inquiry was followed to the permanent military tribunal which continued the examination of witnesses.

Among the witnesses was Major Francisco Cardenas, who commanded the escort which conveyed President Madero and Vice President Pino Suarez from the National Palace to the penitentiary. Two sub-ordinate officers of rural guards and residents

Strong Campaign Against Trusts

Washington, Sept. 19.—Attorney General McReynolds is making a vigorous effort to expedite pending anti-trust investigations and to keep abreast of all current complaints of violations of the Sherman law.

As a step in that direction the attorney general has decided to utilize to the fullest extent possible the service of the United States attorneys throughout the country, instead of largely confining anti-trust inquiries, as has been the custom, to special assistants in the Department of Justice. The plan is to reinforce the staff of special anti-trust lawyers in the department with the services of the United States attorneys. As new charges of monopoly, and restraint of trade are received, they will be referred in many instances to conveniently located United States attorneys equipped to undertake investigations. The attorney general is giving unusual attention to the character and ability of men he is selecting for United States attorneys.

It was pointed out today that a mammoth task faces the attorney general and G. Carroll Todd, his assistant in charge of anti-trust work. There are many cases pending in the courts, especially a large number filed in the closing days of the Taft administration which must be prepared for trial. In addition investigations of great importance have been undertaken and rarely a day passes that the department does not hear of some new trust.

SULZER IS DOWN AND OUT WHILE TRIAL PROGRESSES

NO AGREEMENT THIS WEEK

Hope of Conferees of House and Senate in This Respect Goes Glimmering—Several Points Still at Issue.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Hope of the conferees of the Senate and House reaching a complete agreement on the tariff bill this week went glimmering today when the conference adjourned until tomorrow with about 18 questions still in disagreement. Half a dozen of these subjects have produced determined deadlocks with all sides appealing to President Wilson for assistance.

Representative Underwood expressed the hope tonight that by tomorrow night, all the taxing features might be agreed on. Senator Simmons was not so hopeful. At this morning's session of the conferences, the House agreed to free list ferro manganese ore and the Senate compromised on the House rates on angora wool, and mohair, which had been free listed. In the afternoon works of art were put on the free list practically as originally proposed by the House and without certain Senate restrictions. Furs, dressed and undressed, were free listed, the House receding from its demand for duties ranging from 10 to 40 per cent. and leather was free listed with the exception of a 10 per cent. duty on enameled upholstery leather. The House had put leathers generally on the free list and the Senate's amendment made them dutiable at 10 per cent.

Experts tonight informed Senator Simmons that as at present drawn and agreed to, the bill will produce an income that should give the government a surplus of $16,000,000 in a normal year.

I. O. O. F. SUPREME LODGE.

Some of the Proceedings Yesterday at Minneapolis Sessions.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19.—The attempt of the Rebekah branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows to establish a general assembly was voted down by the Sovereign Grand Lodge today. The Grand Lodge reversed a committee decision and enacted legislation that will hereafter prevent past grand masters from voting.

The association of Grand Secretaries and Grand Sires tonight elected the following officers: President, Frank N. Way, New Hampshire; vice president, A. L. Cushman, Florida; secretary, C. H. Lyman, Ohio.

LOSES THE FIRST SKIRMISH

Objection to Four Senators Overruled —Effort to Show Impeachment is Unconstitutional—Adjournment Taken Until Next Monday.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Counsel for William Sulzer lost the first skirmish in a legal battle they began today, at the second session of the high court of impeachment, to prevent the accused executive from coming to trial. The objections to permitting four Senators to sit as members of the court were overruled.

They next attacked the validity of the impeachment, with a motion to dismiss the proceedings, but failure to complete their arguments when adjournment was taken until Monday,

OUTLINES

The North Carolina Corporation Commission submits the amended proposal of inter-State railroads on rate reductions to North Carolina points and recommends that the same be accepted by the State. It would affect all interior points, but leaves water point rates unchanged.

Counsel for Governor Sulzer yesterday lost the opening skirmish in the legal battle at Albany when the court overruled the objection to the four Senators who constituted the Frawley committee; pending argument of a constitutional objection to the proceedings as a whole, adjournment was taken until Monday.

Gen. Diaz at Paris yesterday said he has no official recall to Mexico, but he was in waiting to return at any time and expressed confidence in the success of his candidacy; the military court which investigated Madero's death found no criminal responsibility; refugees who recently fled from Mexico to San Diego received no support from Secretary Bryan.

New York markets: Flour about steady. Wheat steady, No. 2 red 96 1-2. Corn firm, export 82 1-2. Money on call 2 3-4 per cent to 3; ruling rate 3; closing bid 2 3-4 to 3 per cent. Rosin quiet. Turpentine easy. Cotton steady; middling uplands 13.40; middling gulf 13.65; sales 136 bales.

ELASTIC POLICY TOWARD BANKS

Treasury Department Will Vary Conditions to Suit Circumstances in Handling Crop Moving Funds—Parcel Post.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—The Treasury Department is disposed to adopt an elastic policy towards banks in North Carolina which have partaken of the government loan for movement of crops and will increase the loans where it is found that more money is needed, and extend the time for their repayment.

This was the substance of what Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Williams told Representatives Doughton and Stedman, who called at the department today in company with J. C. King, of Greensboro, and S. C. Hobbs, of Clinton, members of a committee representing the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union.

No Hard and Fast Rule.

Mr. Williams told the delegation that the government would follow no hard and fast rule as to the amount to be loaned, as in some districts it had been found that considerably more money was loaned than in others. Some sections could also re-pay the loans in 30 or 60 days, while others would be unable to realize and return the money for much longer periods.

The chief purpose of the Treasury Department, Mr. Williams said, is to loan the farmers all the money they can use for the movement of their crops and allow the sums to be repaid in such manner as to prove no hardship to them.

A Friend to Farmers.

The delegation was highly pleased with their interview with Mr. Williams, and declared their belief that the farmers have a strong friend in the present administration.

Parcel Post Depots.

It now seems probable that at least two terminals will be established in North Carolina for the distribution of parcel posts, located at Raleigh and Charlotte. Representative Webb has practically received assurance from the Postoffice Department that one will be located at Charlotte if rental of a proper depot can be arranged.

Today Representative Pou and John C. Drewery, of Raleigh, called at the department and are quite hopeful of the establishment of a depot at Raleigh. Raleigh has offered the department choice of two sites free and Messrs. Pou and Drewery believe the offer will be accepted.

Walter Murphy, of Salisbury; W. A. Reynolds, of Winston-Salem, and W. E. Breez, of Asheville, are here.

Representative Faison has recommended the appointment of William Felton as postmaster at Bettie, Carteret county. G. H. M.

SETTING THE STAGE FOR THAW HEARING

Sheriff Drew Holds Consultation With Officials at Concord.

NO LIKELIHOOD OF TROUBLE

Counsel Searches Country for Precedent on Proposed Extradition—Rainy Day Kept Fugitive Indoors.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 19.—Harry K. Thaw's official custodian, Sheriff Drew, was in consultation today with New Hampshire officials regarding the arrangements for Thaw's hearing before Governor Samuel D. Felker, next Thursday, on the question of his extradition to New York State.

The possibility of a disturbance at the proceedings was discussed, although all said there is no apparent likelihood of an untoward happening on that occasion. If Governor Felker approves, it is probable that the hearing will be held in the State Senate chamber, and that the persons allowed to be present will be limited to those directly concerned in the case, newspaper men and members of the bar.

A report came from friends of Thaw tonight that he had expressed a personal wish that the proceedings before the Governor be handled for him exclusively by his New Hampshire counsel, but attorneys here declined to discuss it.

Letters and telegrams continue to pour into the executive chamber, awaiting the arrival of Governor Felker on Monday. William H. Sawyer, who is acting as the Governor's secretary, says there are some interesting and important messages in the lot.

This rainy day kept Thaw indoors, much of the time in his rooms.

Searching for Precedents.

New York, Sept. 19.—Inquiries are being made through official sources throughout the country by counsel for Harry K. Thaw, it was learned tonight to find if a precedent anywhere exists for the action of the New York State authorities in asking the extradition from New Hampshire of Thaw, an insane man, on a charge of crime.

Moses H. Grossman, of the Thaw counsel, who has the inquiry in charge declared it had been his contention all along that Thaw could not be extradited on a criminal charge, and that his inquiry, which was nearly completed, had more than ever convinced him that law and precedent were all against such extradition.

"Never, so far as I can find," said Mr. Grossman, "has there been an extradition of an insane man on a charge of crime. In fact, before the Thaw case there has never been an application for extradition in such circumstances. All the authorities we have been able to reach agree on this."

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 19.—Holding the lead which they established when they won the first stage with a world's record score of 595, the Massachusetts team this afternoon won the Sadler trophy match with an aggregate score of 1,721. New Jersey finished second with 1,694. The second team from the United States Marine Corps, won the Spencer Silhouette match. The American Association of International Riflemen today elected General Bird W. Spencer president.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Three hundred delegates to the International Refrigeration Congress went to Milwaukee on a special train this morniny to spend the day. Tomorrow in this city consideration of technical papers will be resumed.

Culpeper, Va., Sept. 19.—In the presence of a large audience Secretary of State Bryan delivered his chautauqua lecture here tonight. The speaker made no reference whatsoever to politics. He left on a late train for Washington.

Davis Pardoned— Holland Released

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., September 19.—Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, was pardoned this afternoon by Governor Craig, from conviction and $10 fine and costs for striking Wiley Straughan over the head with a whiskey bottle.

The Governor takes the view that Rev. Mr. Davis is not guilty. Among the petitioners for the pardon were Senators Simmons and Overman, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, Judge C. M. Cooke and Solicitor H. E. Norris.

Newly discovered evidence was presented tending to show conspiracy to frame up a case against the prohibition leader.

Judge Charles M. Cooke, in Wake Superior Court today, suspended the four months' jail sentence against J. J. Holland, the Seaboard Air Line section master, for killing Van Stewart for persistent indecent exposure close to the Holland home at Milbrook.

Over 800 people petitioned for the suspension of the judgment and Annie Stewart, mother of the negro killed, wrote the judge from Petersburg, Va., that she understood the provocation under which her son was shot and joined in asking mery for Holland.

COMMISSION URGES RAILROADS' OFFER

Wilmington Chamber Commerce as Strongly Opposes New Proposition

WOULD DESTROY WATER POINTS

Latest Offer of Carriers on Rate Reduction Recommended by Corporation Commission — Wilmingtonians Disapprove.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 19.—"After much study of the whole situation and mature consideration of all the circumstances and conditions, the Corporation Commission unanimously recommends the acceptance of the proposition, with the firm conviction that it will save the people a large amount of money and give renewed impetus to our industrial and commercial development."

The above is the concluding paragraph of a four-page letter from the Corporation Commission to Governor Craig as to the latest amended proposal of the railroad companies for the settlement of the inter-State freight rate differences. The reductions apply, the commission sets out, to a very large territory, embracing the Buffalo-Pittsburgh zone and all territory west therof and north of the Ohio river, and all territory west o fthe Mississippi river to the Pacific coast.

Concessions Extolled as Large.

Furthermore, the commission declares that the reductions offered constitute the largest and most comprehensive concessions in freight rates ever made by any railroads to any State at one time. The letter pronounces the proposed adjustment the greatest achievement in railroad regulation ever gained by any State through any means and accomplished in a remarkably short time at insignificant expense compared with the magnitude of the matter. The commission explains that the proposal does not settle all matters in dispute but that those not agreed upon are left open for possible adjustment later and those settled remain in force for two years, affording a reasonable time for trial of this adjustment and its effect on the roads.

Water Points Turned Down.

As to rates to water points the commission says:

"We have been unable to secure any reductions to Wilmington, Newbern, Washington, Plymouth, Edenton and Elizabeth City on account of the fact that these points having water competition, already have rates much lower than other parts of the State, and generally lower than the reduced rates will be to any other points in the State. We regret our inability to get reductions to these points, but we do not feel that it would be just that the whole State be deprived of the substantial reductions offered because these points cannot also get reductions, and we believe that the citizens of these cities will be too unselfish and patriotic to make such a demand, but on the contrary, will be glad to see the rest of the State enjoy in part the blessings they have already been enjoying for a long time."

The Amended Proposal.

The amended proposal of the carriers is dated at Washington, D. C., Sept. 12th, and is addressed to Chairman E. L. Travis, of the Corporation Commission, he having been in conference at Washington with representatives of the carriers from September 9th to 12th. The proposal is very technical in nature and opens as follows:

"Confirming understandings reached during conference of three days ending today, and summing up the concessions discussed in the various conferences between the Corporation Commission and the carriers, we advise as follows:

"Subject to the understanding between representatives of the State and representatives of the carriers in conference at Raleigh, N. C., February 26th, 1913, and to the further consideration condition that the acceptance by the State of the proposals herein contained shall be settlement of all pending differences between the State of North Carolina and the railroads in respect to rates on inter-State traffice herein adjusted, for a period of at least two years from the time of such acceptance, and that the State will not, in the meantime, adopt punitive or retaliatory measures against the carriers, we propose the following revision of rates on inter-State traffic to points in North Carolina," etc. Then follows the proposed reductions covering nine closely typewritten pages showing in detail the rates on all classes and commodities into the various zones, affecting all points except the ports.

Wilmington Chamber Opposes.

Resolutions clearly setting forth Wilmington's position in the matter and strongly protesting against the acceptance of the latest proposal from the railroads looking to an adjustment of the freight rates to North Carolina territory, were adopted by unanimous vote by the Chamber of Commerce at the largely attended special meeting yesterday afternoon. The latest proposal is opposed on the same general ground that the first proposal was fought by the local commercial body —that it ignores entirely the tidewater points.

In discussing the resolutions, Mr. J. Allan Taylor, who introduced them, said that the latest proposal from the railroads was the work of the chairman of the State Corporation Commission and that whatever he might be otherwise, he is not fit to be chairman of the Corporation Commission. He also spoke of the apparent reversal of the position taken by the chairman

MATHEWSON DROPPED OPENER MARQUARD WON THE SECOND

"Big Rube" Twirled Three Hit Game Against the Browns

PHILS WON AND TIED ONE

Cubs Hit Perdue for Victory Over Braves—Cincinnati and Brooklyn Divided a Doubleheader.

Christy Mathewson dropped another game for the New York Giants yesterday, which statement made at the beginning, effectively quenches the enthusiasm that would otherwise follow the next announcement that Big "Rube" Marquard was invincible in the final act of yesterday's schedule and won another of his famous scattered-hit games. The St. Louis Browns batted Matty for a total of ten hits, but neither team was able to put a score across until an entire inning had been added, in which the Missourians bunched hits for a single tally. The Giants played errorless ball, while the Browns were charged with three misplays. In the second contest Marquard held them to three little hits and held them scoreless throughout the whole of nine innings. Hopper, for the Browns, allowed only five hits in this event, while Slim Sallee held the Giants to four bingles in the first game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates took the first game of a double-header from the Phillies by a three to two score, and the second game went nine innings with a three-three score, being called on account of darkness. Conzelman, the Atlanta recruit, was hit by the Phillies for three scores in the second inning of the latter game.

The Chicago Cubs bunched hits off Perdue and won the final from the Boston Braves, Heinie Zimmerman starring with the willow.

The Reds and Dodgers broke even on a double-header, the first going to the Cincinnati team and the latter to the visitors.

Giants Divided.

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—St. Louis and New York divided a double-header here today. The home team took the first game 1 to 0 in the tenth inning while New York annexed the second 2 to 0. Wingo, hit in the head by a ball thrown by Fletcher, was knocked unconscious. He revived soon but lef the game in the tenth, Huggins running for him. In the second game Marquard was almost invincible, letting the home team down with three hits and fanning eight men.

Cravath May Set Home Run Record

If Gavvy Cravath, of the Phillies, shatters the National League record for home runs established by Bucky Freeman in 1899, the Brooklyn pitchers will not be to blame. They have refused to allow Dooin's fence-breaker to once put the ball out of the lot this season. The same cannot be said of any other set of National League slabmen, for Gavvy has obtained four-baggers in the games with the Cardinals, three each in the games with the Pirates, the Giants, the Reds and the Braves and two in the games with the Cubs. Thirteen of his four-cushion blows were struck at home, two in St. Louis, one in Cincinnati, one in Boston and one in New York.

It was by hitting for the grand tour that Cravath became a Phillie regular this season. He was doing bench duty for Dooin until Monday, May 5th. The previous Saturday, acting as a pinch hitter for Bill Killifer, Cravath had without hestiation and on the first ball pitched lifted the serve of Christy Mathewson's among the denizens of the left field bleachers. In the regular line-up on the following Monday Cravath whaled another homer and he has been contributing them pretty regularly since.

Cravath seems to be a patriotic sort of batsman, for he got one homer on Decoration Day and another on the Fourth of July. On Independence Day, Cravath was acting as a sub swatter. On August 14th Cravath got two four-baggers off Mordecai Brown, of the Reds in one game. The Quaker swatsmith hasn't yet hit for the full distance with all the bases occupied, but he is likely to do so before the season ends, though said season no longer is in its infancy.

Eight of Cravath's four-baggers have been made when the cushions were uninhabited, seven were torn off when one athlete was waiting to score and three were manufactured when there were a pair of runners on what is occasionally alluded to as the two paths. It is interesting to note of Cravath's ability to manufacture homers and hit in the pinches that the New York Giants during a fanfest the other day, thought that Cravath would be the winner of the Chalmers car offered for the National League's most valuable player. It was the Giants' opinion that Joe Jackson would get the American League trophy.

OFFICIAL RULINGS.

National Commission Settles Claims of Minor Leagues and Players.

Cincinnati, Sept. 19.—The National Baseball Commission today handed down three findings the most important of which was the sustaining of a decision by the National Board in regard to the appeal of the Norfolk club of the Virginia State League. The commission affirmed the decision of the National Board in awarding Player Harry Kunkel two weeks full salary, two weeks half salary and a physician's bill, minus $45, which was paid the player when he was released by Norfolk. The player's claim was that he was injured while in the service of the Norfolk club and the Norfolk club was ordered to settle.

The commission refused a re-hearing to the Savannah club in the case of Player Adams. Adams was sold to the Philadelphia American League club after the time limit set by the National agreement for selling players. This limit is 15 days previous to the close of a league's season. The Adams sale in a previous finding was declared null and void.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Hardy Vardon and Edward Ray, the English golfers now playing at Brookline, will meet Charles Evans, former Western champion, and Warren K. Wood, present holder of the title, in a foursome on the Ravisloe links, Chicago, October 5th, it was announced here today.

MORRIS KNOCKS OUT REICH.

Oklahoma Heavyweight Bites Dust in Second Round of Bount.

New York, Sept. 19.—Carl Morris, heavyweight of Sapulpa, Okla., knocked out Al. Reich, of this city, in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight.

A hard right to the point of the jaw after Reich had been worn down by considerable body punishment ended the bout. This was Reich's second professional bout, as he made his debut a week ago, when he defeated Sailor White. Morris weighed 235 pounds, an advantage of 26 pounds over the local man. He began the bout with a stiff right to the head and landed lefts and right to the body before Reich got in several hard body blows. Morris hooked rights and lefts to the head and though Reich blocked some of the blows, the impact jarred him considerably. The local man kept boring in, but Morris had the better of the first round.

In the second, Morris stepped in with a straight left to the face and then sent in lefts and rights to the head, Reich only partly stopping the blows. Morris kept his man on the defensive, and administered severe body punishment, a heavy blow to the stomach making Reich unable to extend himself. Shortly after the break olow. Reich was apparently conscious of his surroundings, but made no away Morris sent across the finishing effort to get up until after the count.

GRIFF'S SOUTHERN RECRUIT TWIRLS SENATORS TO VICTORY

Giant Twirler Love, Recruited from Atlanta Won His First

RAIN POSTPONED FINALS

Final Stands at Boston, New York and Philadelphia Were Called Off for Always on Account of Rain Yesterday.

Jupiter Pluvius ruled supreme at three of the four objective points on the American League circuit yesterday, knocking up final games of the season at these places for three Western clubs. The games so postponed cannot be played off, as the teams do not visit the same stands again.

The final game at Washington with Detroit was presided over by Love, a recruit from the Atlanta South Atlantic club, who put over a win on his debut into the big leagues, winning by a 2 to 1 score from the Tigers. Love is the tallest pitcher in the American League, standing six feet, seven inches high. He was hit for a total of eight times, and got into several holes, but managed to hold the Detroits scoreless until the seventh inning when they put across a tally. Joe Boehling finished the game and held the Tigers safe.

Today the Senators open a series at home with the St. Louis Browns and the Athletics will receive the Tigers for two games, being a clean swap between the two teams. The Cleveland Naps go to New York for a series with the rejuvenated Yankees who have upset all the dope for the past ten days, and the White Sox visit Boston for a three-day stay with the world champions.

Two of the Western teams, Chicago and Detroit, return home for their last stand on the 26th, but St. Louis had the last home game of the season in the first week of September. New York and Washington have the better of the bargain from now on, if home-playing counts for anything, having nine games within the next two weeks on their local lots.

Griff's Recruit Won.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Love, a recruit from Atlanta, who stands six feet, seven inches, started his first game for Washington today and was given the winner over Detroit, the last game of the season between the two teams. The tall pitcher was hit hard and got into many holes during the seven innings he was on the mound. Detroit had 13 men left on the bases. 11 of them being stranded during Love's regime, the hit needed to win always failing to materialize. Boehling pitched the last two innings for Washington and held Detroit safe.

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE BETTER.

Dun's Review Says Strengthening and Disposition to Extend Operations.

New York, Sept. 19.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow:

"Business confidence is strengthening and there is slightly more disposition to extend operations further into the future. Most advices indicate a larger volume of trade than a year ago, while some industrial centers report more machinery active with a reduction in the number of unemployed.

"Labor troubles exert a trading influence in a few sections, but disturbances of a serious nature are absent. Lower temperatures have had a stimulating effect on distribution of merchandise at retail and the Fall season appears to be opening up fairly well.

"Less conservatism is manifest in the wool markets. Buyers of leather are operating more freely. Both retail and jobbing trade in footwear is moderately active. Pig iron reflects increased firmness with heavy sales of Southern iron a feature. The strong statistical position of Copper has been reflected in a continued rise in prices.

"Failures this week numbered 282 against 291 last year and 20 in Canada compared with 24."

Johnson Out For Shutout Record

Walter Johnson can equal an American League record by twirling two more shut-out games this season and can shatter one by twirling three more such combats. The Washington speed merchant hurled his 11th kalsomine event last Friday and he then surpassed the record made by Joe Wood, boss of the shut-out brigade of 1912. By blanking his adversaries once more this year, Walter can equal Ed Walsh's performance of 1908, and by blanking his adversaries twice or more times the Idaho phenom can tie Jack Coombs' 1910 achievement. One more shut-out after that will enable Johnson to hang up a new American League record for kalsomining, the top figures now being Jack Coombs' 13, reeled off in 1910.

Of Johnson's 11 shut-out "wins" this year, three have been over New York, and two each over Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit, and one each over Chicago and St. Louis. The Naps haven't been blanked thus far by Sir Walter, and have beaten him twice when his teammates were unable to get a run. Johnson pitched three shut-outs in April, one in May, four in June, two in July and one in this month.

THE ETERNAL DOPE.

(By Grantland Rice.)

Up with your glasses to Tyrus Cobb—
To Jackson the slugger a foaming beaker—
Crown them kings of the Walloping Job—and then again there's a bloke named Speaker.

We shudder to think of the shock that would befall Royston, Ga., and Greenville, S. C., if Hubbard City, Tex., should insist upon skidding gently in ahead of both as the home town of the Ruling Batting Orb.

But Hubbard has the best chance it has ever known. Last season Cobb led with 227 hits. Jackson was next with 226 and Speaker was only four hits further down with 222. So far in this campaign Speaker has amassed up against Monday's start five more hits than Jackson and 44 more than Cobb. He is still a few batting points shy due to a greater number of times at bat, but just now is hitting the ball harder than any other man in the game.

The blue-ribboned border in batting isn't the .300 eye but the .200 hit mark; .300 batters are fairly common but last season there were only five to reach or pass 200 hits. They were Cobb, Jackson, Speaker and Baker from the American and Zimmerman from the National.

This season the 200 order will be pruned still further. Speaker needs but 16 additional hits, starting with Monday's count. Jackson needs 21. The National hasn't any one with the chance as Daubert leads and Jake the Dodger needs 37 more hits with only 20 games to play. Compiling 37 hits in 20 battles can be done, but it's a highly technical undertaking at best.

Speaker is not close enough to catch in two days, just as he caught Jackson from Thursday to Saturday of last week, so in place of Georgia annexing South Carolina or South Carolina annexing Georgia, Texas may annex both and add considerable more territory to her already widespread domain.

Washington in 1909 beat Cleveland out of a pennant by taking the last eight out of ten games. She beat Cleveland out of another chance at the pennant by taking the last eight straight, if not more. When one city in the pinch epoch can rise up and take 16 out of 18 from another city, the Indian sign can be noted as fairly rampant and in full bloom.

The Cardinals are first in fielding and last in batting. Another ruling proof that the batting eye is mightier than the mitt.

If the Browns finish last, the two St. Louis clubs should stage an upside down world series for the benefit of the surrounding populace. Next to knowing which is the best club in the game the most interesting feature is knowing the name of the worst. As a forecast for such a series we predict a draw.

The Mackmen are not hitting the ball as lustily as in former years, but going back they have yet to meet a club forward.

America would feel a trifle safer over the Vardon-Ray invasion of Brookline, Boston, if Walter Johnson was pegging the golf ball.

Or if one long drive was required to break a tie and F. Baker was poised upon the tee.

OUIMET'S GREAT TRIUMPH.

American Youth Sensation of Great Golf Meet at Brookline.

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 19.—An American youth—stripling scarcely out of his teens—carved a niche for himself in international sporting history here today when Francis Ouimet tied with England's famous professional golfers, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, in the final round of the National Open Championship. As the result of his exhibition of nerve and golfing skill he will be America's sole representative in the 18-hole, three-ball medal play off of the tie which exists tonight between the trio, each of whom turned in a card of 304 for 72 holes contested during the past two days.

Ouimet's performance today lifted the 19th annual open tournament of the United States Golf Association out of the usual classification, accorded a National championship and brought the contest to a standard little short of other international competitions. Of the half dozen home-bred and transplanted professionals not one could keep pace with Ray and Vardon and all hope of retaining the title honors appeared lost until Ouimet was found making his lone stand amid rain and mud against the two older players.

When the spectators realized that in this home-bred amateur, born and brought up on the edge of the Country Club course, rested America's chance of winning the championship, they lost that placid attitude and whisper that ordinarily marks the golf gallery, and rooted and cheered Ouimet in a manner typical at baseball and football game. Scenes that attended Ouimet's march over the last four holes never have been equalled on an American or European golf course.

Enthusiasm ran the gamut from despair to elation, silence was followed by great outbursts of cheering. When Ouimet's second shot from the 17th tee landed dead on the edge of the home green 5,000 spectators massed themselves in a gigantic ring of breathless humanity about Ouimet and his playing partner, George Sargeant. The American youth needed the hole in one to win and two to tie. He gazed long down into the bowl where the cup lay, dried his hands and made a 35-foot putt that just missed the hole and rolled three feet beyond. A sigh arose from the crowd and all was still again. Ouimet looked once at that little stretch of sodden turf that lay between him and another chance for the title—gently tapped the ball and stepped back to watch its progress. Slowly it rolled to the edge of the hole, curled around the tip for an inch or so and then dropped in for the four which tied him with Ray and Vardon.

Instantly a tremendous yell went up. The gallery swept past ropes and guards and closed in on Ouimet in a solid phalanx. He was lifted to the shoulders of the advance guard and carried toward the club house surrounded by several thousand cheering, yelling golfers who forgot their golf in the enthusiasm of being just Americans cheering an American victory. Many, not realizing that Ouimet was an amateur, thrust bills of large denominations at him, only to be met with a smile and a shake of the head. Ouimet's great battle against the prowess of the two Englishmen, who already were tied with 304 before he all the more praiseworthy because of the frightful weather conditions under which he was obliged to play. It was raining heavily before the forenoon round was started and continued with but few let-ups all day. The fairways and greens were water-soaked and the rain beat down upon players and spectators alike.

It was hard on the English players, but worse for the Americans, since Ray and Vardon in particular have played many matches under similar trying conditions.

SELL STRING OF SILK MILLS

Ashley & Bailey Properties, Including Fayetteville Mill, to be Sold at Auction by Owners—Peculiar Reason Given.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 19.—One of the most important bits of industrial news that has leaked out in some time came out today in the form of advance information to The Star correspondent from J. E. Conant & Co., of Lowell, Mass., of the sale of the big Ashley & Bailey string of silk mills, reaching from Paterson, N. J., to Fayetteville.

The nine Ashley & Bailey mills are located in six manufacturing towns, Paterson, N. J.; York, Pa.; Columbia, Pa.; Marietta, Pa.; Coatesville, Pa.; and Fayetteville, N. C., and the mills in each place will be sold at auction on various dates in October. The three main mills—the original Ashley & Bailey factories—and the Hawthorne mill at Paterson, will be put up on October 14th. The mill at York will be sold on the 16th; the sale at Columbia, where there are four big factories built in a rectangle, which are considered one establishment, and at Marietta, will be on the next day, and the Coatesville sale the day following. The two mills here, which are also under one superintendent, will go on the block the 21st.

Reason for Selling.

These factories, perhaps the most valuable string of silk manufacturing establishments in the United States, are not being put up for sale because they are not paying properties. The real reason is said to be that the Messrs. Ashley and Bailey, the owners, have found that their descendants, being the opposite of self-made men, have no idea of participating in the active management of the properties when the founders shall have passed on; therefore, they have determined to sell the mills now, rather than have them pass into strange hands after their death.

More information about the sale, information that is official, can be furnished in a few days.

WASHINGTON RECOVERING.

Effects of Storm Disappearing—Rebuilding Bridges—Much Loss.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., Sept. 19.—The Norfolk Dredging Company which has the contract for dredging out Pamlico river, at work when the storm struck this vicinity, two weeks ago, were heavy losers, having two tugs and one steam dredge sunk, another tug was swept high and dry up in a corn field about one-quarter of a mile from the river, and several of their mud scows were sunk and swept ashore.

The tug that was swept ashore has been taken off, the dredge raised and divers are now at work repairing the holes in the hulls of the tugs sunk, so that they, too, can be raised. Both railroad bridges which were swept away have been rebuilt and trains are now running on schedule time.

The contract for rebuilding the handsome steel county bridge, which was also destroyed, has been awarded to Mr. R. S. Neal, of this city, and work will begin within the next few days. The contract calls for the bridge to be completed in 72 working days.

The handsome automobile combination hose and chemical engine wagon recently ordered by the city to be added to its volunteer fire department, is expected to arrive about December 1st. The fire truck weighs five tons and is of 100-horsepower. It is one of the very latest machines of its kind made and will be quite an addition to the efficient volunteer fire department. The price of the machine is $6,000.

The first United States Court to be held in the new public building will convene in the Federal Court room on the second floor of this building, on Tuesday after the third Monday in October. His Honor, Judge H. G. Connor will preside. The new court room is fitted up in very attractive style and the furnishings and equipment are of the very latest.

Washington's tobacco market is proving a great success. Both warehouses are having large sales daily. Tobacco is being brought in the city by the wagon load, by different farmers from all over the county and this vicinity. The tobacco is of exceptionally good quality and the selling very active. Some of the weed sold today as high as 50 cents per pound. The stemmery and dry plant are also kept very busy.

INDICT NON-TAX LISTERS.

Guilford Grand Jury Has Names of 1,200 Men—Solicitor's Fees $2,000.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 19.—County Auditor J. A. Davidson has turned over to the solicitor and grand jury the names of 1,200 men in Guilford county who failed to list either property or poll tax this year.

It is expected that wholesale indictments will be returned in the cases, and that at the next term of court the county and solicitor will have a harvest of fees and costs, as well as taxes. Failing to list is a misdemeanor, but the practice has been to let the defendants pay the costs of the prosecution and double tax. Should one-half of these cases be prosecuted to a successful conclusion the solicitor would get more than $2,000 in fees. No action has yet been taken with reference to the cases.

For some time city and county officers have been working assiduously on the cases and have gotten every name they could find of men living in the county who owned property or were liable for poll tax and did not list. It is believed that the action of the officers will have a very salutary effect in the future. Many other counties can profit by the example.

WM. E. BEVILL DEAD.

Guilford Man Passes in Baltimore—Another Murderer Sentenced.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Greensboro, N. C., Sept. 19.—William E. Bevill, one of Greensboro's oldest and most successful business men, died this afternoon in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, aged 74 years. The body will be brought here tomorrow and funeral will be held Sunday. One daughter, Mrs. W. M. Ridenhour, survives.

Deceased was a native of Guilford county and for many years was in the tobacco business in Greensboro, he accumulated a considerable fortune and was considered wealthy. C. L. Beville, of Fayetteville, is a brother.

The fourth murder case of the present term of Superior Court was disposed of today when Ed Clawson, was found guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced by Judge Shaw to 25 years in the penitentiary. Clawson cut the throat of Jim Jeffreys, another negro, several weeks ago, causing Jeffreys to bleed to death.

SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED.

State Board of Charities Visits New State Institution.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 19.—The State Board of Charities, here for an inspection of the new State school for the feeble-minded two miles from the city, were pleased with the location and buildings of the institution. In the party were Mr. Carey Hunter, of Raleigh; Mr. Chas. Horne, of Clayton, and Miss Daisy Denson, of Raleigh, secretary of the board. One member was absent. They were shown over the grounds and through the handsome dormitories and central building by Superintendent Ira M. Hardy. It is understood that the board will advocate an increase in accommodations and an appropriation large enough to permit the school being opened, which has been impossible heretofore because of lack of funds. The coming special session of the Legislature will probably make provision for the institution, which is the first of the kind in the South and possibly the best equipped for a small institution in the country. Messrs. Hunter and Horne and Miss Denson left for other points to inspect State schools.

Four townships in Greene county will vote Tuesday for road improvement bonds. Several townships have already carried the issue, and the friends of good roads in Greene claim that majorities will be had by them in Speoght's Bridge, Bullhead, Shine and Hookerton. If all four of these give a majority for bonds, then Greene, despite its small population, will be the farthest advanced of any eastern North Carolina county in road construction. Whereas, now there is hardly a mile of decent highway, $180,000 will then be available for this work.

Another very heavy break of tobacco was sold on the local market yesterday, with the prices up to the recent high standard. Between 300,000 and 350,000 pounds were handled, and much of it brought from 25 to 40 cents a pound.

George A. Wise, a lanscape engineer and practical forester of Jersey City, with a force of assistants, is here for the improvement of a portion of Vernon Heights, the splendid ridge which, overlooking Kinston from the north, contains some of the city's finest homes. An oak grove on the property of C. Felix Harvey is being scientifically treated to preserve some of the finest specimens of that tree in North Carolina.

Wake Forest, N. C., Sept. 19.—The high school opened last Monday with an enrollment of about 90. Prof. Roy J. Hart is principal this year, having with him as assistants Miss Josephine Kelly and Miss Agnes Taylor. Efforts tending toward the convenience of the students and also to meet the demands of the public, have been made, such as extensive improvements to the buildings and grounds, etc.

THE GREAT
MAJESTIC RANGE

Isn't it the truth?

Every housewife spends by far the most of her time in the kitchen, and least of her time in the parlor, yet, it's surprising, how many have a $500.00 piano in the parlor and a cheap, worn-out cook stove in the kitchen.

Now, is your kitchen a pleasant place for you, or does that old, worn-out range or stove give you as much trouble as ever? If so, why not eliminate all this worry, bother and needless expense by putting in a and thus insure perfectly-cooked meals for the folks, plenty of hot water always, no repairs to fuss over, besides having a range that adds to the appearance of your kitchen.

Saturday September 20, 1913.

After the proof is presented then comes the reproof.

When a town begins to talk about itself it is a good sign.

Those who shut the door in the Summer will soon be leaving it open in the Winter.

"Birds of a feather will flock together" but the inducement is not so great since the lid has been on so tight.

It isn't everybody that likes his town, because his town has to lock up some of its residents every now and then.

A man would rather mend a punctured tire than to help his wife put up the stove so it may be ready for the first cold snap.

Upon what resource does Wilmington mainly depend for its business, manufacturing or commerce? Don't everybody answer at once.

The bankrupt who has liabilities of $1,250,000 and only $700 to pay them off, may as well keep the money to make a new start. With his stock of experience he may do better.

A political leader has to be much stronger than a political boss, for their methods of ascendancy and power are entirely different. The leader appeals to his followers. The boss corrals his.

Governor Dunne, of Illinois, says he spends $20,000 a year for his expenses. He may have the money all right, but the expenditure of $20,000 a year on any Illinois Governor looks like extravagance.

The self-made man should never stop his work along that line. He can make himself over and keep on doing credit to himself. No man should ever be entirely satisfied with himself.

Prince Monaco has come to this country to study American institutions. In the meantime he wouldn't mind meeting a giddy American woman who wants to exchange her wad for a title.

A Congressman, while making a speech, vehemently exclaimed: "I am an honest man." Probably he never caught himself doing something wrong and considers himself honest till he is convinced to the contrary.

The fact that a man's being can be changed is proven by the evidence that a man today is not what he was twenty years ago. Amid the changing years a man doesn't even look like himself when he was younger.

Quite a number of lobbyists have been treed but the game is hardly worth the candle except that it increases the severity of public opinion to the point where corruptionists will be afraid to act with boldness in the future.

To be heckled and harried is one way of expressing it in English when a man is made to see sights, but we regret to note that the latest expression in the language is to be "harry-thawed." Defined, the new word means to be fought over by lawyers and bounced from one country to another for being an undesirable citizen.

A WHOLE LOAF, GENTLEMEN!

"That these discriminations are State-wide in their operation and effect, and that the State, in its sovereign capacity should act in the matter with a breadth of view that comprehends all sections and promises universal relief;

"That these discriminations are against all parts of North Carolina in relation to the gateways, and any adjustment which does not carry relief to every part of the State would, of itself, be a discrimination hardly less gross, and infinitely more indefensible, than the discriminations against which the State now makes common cause."

Thus the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce states its position on the rate discrimination practiced against North Carolina, and thus it views the proposal now offered to the State backed by the recommendation of the State Corporation Commission.

We cannot believe that Governor Craig will approve the proposal and join the Corporation Commission in recommending it to the Legislature; we cannot believe that the State Just Freight Rate Association will approve it, or that the Legislature will adopt it. For it is manifestly a half loaf, a sop to North Carolina, with the two-fold purpose of stopping the cry for rate reduction and sacrificing the State's ports, which offer the only satisfactory and permanent solution of freight rates.

Let us have nothing less than a whole loaf, gentlemen! Let us have fairness, equality and justice for every section of North Carolina.

Wilmington, Fayetteville, Newbern and every other gateway to the sea should present a solid front at Raleigh next week, and should see that their own future and the future of the State are not exchanged for a mess of pottage.

THE GROWING ARMY OF SMALL INVESTORS.

There are literally millions of small investors in this country, and they have been taking a hand at speculating as well as "salting down their money" in bonds and securities. Speculation is bad enough for people with plenty of money, but the brokers in the larger cities, taking advantage of their knowledge that millions of small investors want a showing for their money, have opened the way for them to get rich quick or to "blow it in," as it generally turns out. However, bankers and legitimate money brokers have done millions of business with small investors who have put their money in good securities.

Referring to the large class of small investors, Mr. S. W. Straus writes to the "Investors' Magazine" that popular investments began during the Civil War when the great financier Jay Cooke found a market among the people for government bonds to finance the war. Savings banks came along to give the small investors a chance to deposit their money and earn something on it, but Mr. Straus says the spread of the investment idea has been even more wonderful than the spread of savings banks. It is estimated in financial circles that approximately $1,500,000,000 in small investments is now made every year by the people. He believes that "the field is only beginning to be cultivated thoroughly."

Mr. Straus points out that it is only within the past six or eight years that financial houses had in mind any investors except those of large means. They did not advertise in order to cater to the general public. Now, however, conditions have changed, and the largest houses cater to even the smallest investors. Twenty or thirty years ago, a man of moderate means seldom thought of making an investment in anything except houses, lands and speculative stocks. Nobody wanted the small investors, hence the get-rich-quick schemes came up to catch them. Their losses and the exposure of such investment sharks has turned the people to securities, and concerning this trend, Mr. Straus continues:

"During the last few years, three great forces have operated against the dangerous promoters. The first was that of publicity, for many magazines of National scope began a long series of exposures which put the public on their guard. The United States government began prosecuting for fraudulent use of the mails. The third force exerted was by the great investment banks of the country, which began catering not only to the wealthy, but to investors of moderate and of small means.

"When a sound investment bond is put in competition with the ten cent mining stock and the merits of the two are impartially compared, the mining stock stands little chance. So year by year, as the sales of worthless stock decreased, the sales of legitimate securities have grown.

"The United States is not yet a nation of investors in the sense that France is. It will be a long time before we see such a wonderful spectacle as was accorded in Paris last year, when the investing public subscribed more than three billion dollars to take up an issue of sixty million dollars of municipal bonds. In France every one is an investor—the scrub woman, the chauffeur, the porter, the milk man, each has a few sound bonds tucked away in a strong box. The majority of French bonds are issued in denominations of $60, and most of these bonds are sold to small investors.

"We have not reached the French stage of thrift, economy, and providence, but we have made at least a good beginning. Sound bonds can be obtained in denominations of $1,000, $500 and even $100, thus putting them within the reach of all investors, however small their means. The man with a few hundred dollars laid up in a savings bank may purchase, if he wishes, United States government bonds to net a little less than three per cent.; municipal bonds to net about four per cent.; standard railroad bonds to net as high as 4 1-2 per cent.; the better grade of public utility and industrial bonds to net five per cent., and first mortgage real estate bonds to net 5 1-2 per cent. and six per cent. All of these are forms of investment that are of tested, tried and proved soundness. Bonds of any of these classes, if purchased from an investment banking house of experience, standing and reputation, afford the investor perfect safety."

With the public investing more largely in securities, the time is coming when home securities ought to be subscribed by home investors. The bonds of New Hanover county and Wilmington ought to be sold at home, and if there were a selling plan in advance of the issue we believe all home issues could be floated in the State among the people in its various counties and cities.

WHAT IS WILMINGTON FOR?

We are quite well prepared to believe that much of the boosting done in most cities is energy wasted and money thrown away, especially that which has been spent for indefinite advertisements, just as if the boosters were advertising for a customer and not for an investor. We have been going through the primitive stages, but in a sort of evolutionary way experts have come to the front to tell cities about their strong points and show them how to get down to the work of developing their interests and resources and make the most of their advantages and opportunities.

We are reminded to say this because we have received a booklet entitled, "Everybody's Business," published at Cleveland, Ohio, by Mr. J. LeRoy Tope, who is an expert on economic and industrial analysis. Just as The Star has often urged in its "know your town" editorials, a town or city must be studied so it can get the best out of its advantage. We must know what it is best suited for and do that before we try anything else. Mr. Tope is an "industrial counselor," which means that he is now doing the business of acting as expert counselor to chambers of commerce and booster clubs as to their plans for promoting the industrial upbuilding of their localities. He lectures on the topics in which city builders are interested and his lectures are made up from his study and thorough knowledge of the subjects.

We have often urged that the kind of factory to start is the kind that can get its raw material right at hand, and that the city near which there is plenty of raw material is where that material ought to be turned into the finished product. We are persuaded from Mr. Tope's booklet that he knows his business as an analyzer of a city's opportunities and resources, and he goes at it in such a thorough manner that he includes a study of material resources, transportation, market opportunities, demand, consumption and general statistical information touching industrial and economic propositions.

Mr. Tope tells chambers of commerce how to turn the trick instead of wasting time and money on a matter to which they cannot or do not give sufficient study. We cannot do much for the industrial upbuilding of Wilmington till we make a study of the subject and follow up a systematic plan. We can do nothing to promote the commerce of Wilmington unless we make a study of the opportunities and organize definite plans to be carried out. Merely believing in them and calling attention to them is not sufficient. Mr. Tope saves commercial bodies a lot of trouble in the study of their towns because he does it for them, and we are convinced that he is a man who knows his business.

Since The Star has so often urged manufacturing as the surest builder of cities, it is interesting to note from Mr. Tope's little publication that the forty cities making the greatest gain in population during the last decade are those cities which have promoted manufacturing. It shows their percentage of gain in manufacturing and the corresponding gain in population. Charlotte, N. C., is among the forty prosperous and growing cities in the list furnished in "Everybody's Business." Charlotte's manufacturing increased 150 per cent. in ten years and her population increased 88 per cent.

That ought to show what we should be doing to make Wilmington grow faster. By the way, while Charlotte was making the record quoted, Wilmington's industries grew only 31 per cent. and its population increased only 23 per cent. in ten years. We ought to make a far different showing in the next ten years.

OPEN THE HARBOR FRONT.

A Wilmington jobber says he heartily approves the suggestion of The Star that the streets running along the harbor front should be widened by way of preparing Wilmington for a greater commercial and jobbing future. He stated that on the very day he read the Star's editorial he saw traffic blocked a half hour on North Water street because one truck was in the way and no others could pass between it and the cars which necessarily were standing on the belt railway.

The streets paralleling the harbor for about three miles are Nutt street, North Water street, South Water street and Surry street. These streets should be broadened from the northern to the southern limits of the city, if it is ever expected that Wilmington is to take its proper place among the growing ports of the South Atlantic. There isn't a port on the South Atlantic that is not doing a largely increased commerce and making preparations to become a port of greater scope. Even the small port of Georgetown has greatly increased its commerce, not to mention the great increases at Norfolk, Wilmington, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville. The same is true of every port on the Gulf of Mexico.

The fact is, the ocean gateways of the country are bound to increase their commerce in proportion as all of the interior of America develops. There has to be an outlet for the country's surplus production and the only way it can reach the markets of the world is through the ocean gateways. The ports are growing because the country is growing and developing, and the port of Wilmington must grow and develop with it. It is very necessary, therefore, to impress the importance of a comprehensive plan for the improvement of the harbor front. The Charlotte Observer sees the point made by The Star, and the following view of that esteemed paper will be read with interest:

"The Clyde-Mallory line of steamships is to improve its water front holdings in lower Wilmington harbor. The Star suggests that this is an opportunity for Wilmington to inaugurate a long-neglected work of developing its extensive water front on modern lines. Wilmington possesses one of the finest harbors on the Atlantic coast and its water front has been left in pretty much the shape nature made it. By a commercialized system of improvement its value could be very largely increased."

The able chief of the Observer's staff speaks from knowledge of the port of Wilmington, and it is a pity that every North Carolinan did not know of the possibilities of their port. We have seen quite a number of harbors, but we can't say that in natural advantages any of them are equal to that which extends 28 miles from Wilmington to Southport and Fort Caswell. Nature has intended it for one of America's greatest ocean distributors, and as it is capable of development to an equality with any of them, North Carolina should see that it is done. Even should Wilmington be content with the port of the present, the State should not by any means be satisfied until there is 40 feet of water on the bar and a 30-foot channel to Wilmington.

LOOKS LIKE DEEP WELLS.

In the light of what Dr. DuBois says about the commercial fertilizer possibilities of our Cape Fear water, we would like to see the movement toward deep wells for a public water supply pushed with all possible despatch. There's no gainsaying the fact that the water consumers of Wilmington will never be entirely satisfied with Cape Fear river water. Should the intake be moved miles up the river, there would be still the constant danger of pollution of the water shed. The river water is not desirable for many other reasons. If clarified, the action of the chemicals always raises a presumption of danger that is almost as bad as the danger itself. To say the least, it is a costly and unsatisfactory process.

Mr. Oliver Carter recently pointed out that all the city needs to do in the matter of deep wells is to send its engineer to Memphis, Tenn., to investigate the deep wells as a source of supply, for that modern Southern city. We believe the suggestion is worth dollars to the city. We should like to see the fullest investigation of this subject; then, if the facts justify, we want to see quick and determined action on the part of the municipal authorities towards providing a pure and satisfactory water supply for Wilmington.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The very name of Seminole seems to be a gad for a ship's company. Everybody is familiar with the exploits of the revenue cutter of that name, and now a common merchantman with the same label has dared two warships. However, they were warships of Santo Domingo, which may clarify the mystery.—Greensboro News.

One hundred thousand pounds of meat and eggs have just been condemned by the State dairy and food commission in Philadelphia—it had been in storage since 1906—there went with it 40,000 pounds of game, two years dead, which was adjudged "a bit high." How much more is still on the market.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Wilmington banks are nothing if not patriotic. While 6 per cent on gilt edge security is an exceedingly low interest for a bank to charge under present conditions, and it is difficult to float bonds, these banks have taken the whole of two issues of New Hanover county amounting to $275,000. And not only does this transaction show the patriotism of the bankers of Wilmington, but it shows what has been well known already, that the Wilmington banks have resources that are not surpassed by similar institutions in any city in the State.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Almost every day we see large droves of calves and yearlings being taken from this county. We suppose the farmers are getting what they think is a good price, but we believe they are making a serious mistake by selling at any price. All of our farmers have more feed on hand than they usually have and a calf that will bring $10 now will bring $30 in a year from now. A good calf that will bring $15 now will bring from $50 to $75 within two years. The farmers have the pasture and the feed and it will take but a short while for one dollar to grow to the value of five when invested in good young cattle. Farmers keep your calves and good yearlings and get the growth of them yourself, and you will bring $5 into your community for every one you are bringing in at present.—Carroll County (Va.) Journal.

Some of the papers of the country have started a discussion in behalf of the rural mail carrier, the poor kin of the government, the poorest paid and hardest working class of employes on the rolls. For the relief of the carriers two suggestions have been advanced. The first is an upward revision of salaries, and the second is for compensation in case of injuries. It is noted by the Montgomery Advertiser that in The Survey, Dr. Rubinow writes there were 17 fatalities and 124 injuries in the rural mail service and eight fatalities and 400 injuries in city mail delivery. Not one cent's compensation was paid by the government to the family of any dead mail carrier, or to any injured mail carrier. The Advertiser argues that if these injuries were sustained by a man employed by a private corporation or firm, he could sue in the courts; juries are prompt, usually, in bringing in favorable verdicts to such plaintiffs. Again, in many of the American States there are specific laws holding the employers liable for injuries not caused by the gross negligence of the injured person. But the mail carrier cannot sue the government; there is no way for him to get a single cent, or for his family, if he is killed, to be compensated for his loss. The government has provided a scheme of insurance for employes on the Panama Canal, in the arsenals and navy yards and in other occupations regarded as hazardous, and it ought to extend the limit to take in the mail carriers. It ought to do that and in addition give the carriers living rates of pay.—Charlotte Observer.

STATE-WIDE STOCK LAW NECESSITY FOR GOOD OF STATE.

To the Editor of The Star:

As much has been said as to the merits both for and against the stock law, it has been shown clearly that when we have the no-fence law in this State, we have good farmers, good farms, good stock and intelligent and progressive people. Where we do not have it, we have just the reverse, in most cases.

No man can cite case where anyone ever sells or ships butter and milk from a territory where they do not have stock law, and if they have cows, they are usually so poor they can hardly raise their calves, much less yield milk. A very reliable man told me that he had about 60 or 70 head of cattle, and about 2,000 acres of land, and when he wanted milk or butter, he had to get it from a man who lives in a no-fence territory, who only had 10 acres of land, and one milk cow.

As to hogs, they destroy more forests than any other animal—pines, acorns, nuts and berries. You can easily detect where they range, from the destruction which they bring about. On the side where they do not range, in a year, you can see a beautiful undergrowth of all kinds of trees, pine, oak, hickory, etc. In addition to this, these district fences are very expensive to the people who maintain them, and by having a State no-fence law, it would eliminate the district, and curtail fence expenses. We are surrounded by no-fence States. This would save altogether thousands of dollars to the State of North Carolina, as well as to have the benefit of the National government to rid the entire State of ticks.

Progressive people would then come into this State, raise stock, have dairies and ship their products anywhere and everywhere, without feeling that he had done anything wrong. If you notice throughout the country, you will observe how the territory in which we have the no-fence law thrives and progresses; while that district in which there is not this law, the territory stands still, and becomes so unsatisfactory to good, live people that in most cases they pull out and go somewhere else, and land then becomes cheap the very day that progressive people leave a community, and it is generally bought up by negroes, who, in many cases, are getting small tracts of our very best land. So a law that one part of our State can live by is generally good enough for us all to live by.

There is one thing that I have never seen that is in any place where they ever have the no-fence law, and that is that they never go back to the old fence law under any consideration. We want to ask our Legislature, who will soon be in session, to give us this law, and if they won't do that, we want them to call a State election, and let the people vote on it. Then we want to go to the polls and carry it. And another thing, if we can't get anything done for us, which we think we will, we should make another effort to get this law enacted, as it is a known fact that the people who are in favor of the present old fence law, go to our men who run for legislative offices and require them to promise them they will not vote for a no-fence law. Now, that being the case, if we can't get anything done, we had better be on the look-out for the people next time who want progress instead of stagnation in electing our representatives for State.

COLLISION OF BEACH CARS

Three Ladies and a Youth Injured Yesterday Morning When "Dead" Car Ran Into Stationary Suburban Train.

A rear-end collision between a stationary outward bound beach train and a "dead car" going to the car barns at Ninth and Princess streets yesterday morning at 8:35 o'clock caused Master John T. French, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. French, to suffer rather severe cuts on the nose and right elbow and to badly sprain his ankle. Mrs. Marshall French, her mother, Mrs. O. F. Adams, of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. Chas. J. Keen also received minor lacerations and bruises.

The accident occurred while the outgoing suburban car of the Tidewater Power Company was waiting for the persons named, together with Mr. John T. French, to get aboard. The "dead car" had just returned from the beach and was following this car on its way to the car barns. It was in charge of Mr. M. H. Goodman, who was the only person on it. He stated that he considered that he was a safe distance from the car in front, but for some reason not definitely known he was unable to stop before the car crashed into the rear of the front car.

The passengers were just getting on, the ladies having gotten inside and young French was waiting on the platform for his father to get aboard. The ladies had not had time to be seated and were thrown forward by the heavy impact of the rear-end collision. Young French got his foot caught on the platform causing a severe sprain of his ankle and was also cut about the face by the broken glass. The motorman, Mr. Goodman, escaped uninjured.

Mrs. John Sheehan, who lives near by, saw the collision and notified the Tidewater Power Company immediately of the accident, and also called Dr. J. B. Cranmer. Dr. B. J. Willingham was also notified, and the two physicians came at once to render any necessary surgical aid. Mrs. French and her mother, Mrs. Adams, were taken to Mrs. French's home, No. 111 North Eighth street, and Mrs. Keen to her home, No. 114 North Eighth street. They were found to be slightly bruised and cut and were also severely shocked.

Master John T. French, Jr., was the worst hurt of the party. Two stitches had to be taken in the cut on the nose. No bones were broken. He was reported last night as resting comfortably.

The outgoing car, No. 51, was in charge of Motorman L. W. Page and Conductor E. A. Outlaw. The "dead car," No. 41, was in charge of Mr. M. H. Goodman. All three men are regarded by the Tidewater officials as being very efficient men.

Capt. W. F. Corbett, claim agent for the Tidewater Company, went to the scene of the accident, and made a thorough investigation. He offered the injured passengers every aid possible. The ambulance from the James Walker Memorial Hospital was summoned, but it was found that it would be unnecessary for any of the injured to go to the hospital.

The regular car that was standing still was badly damaged, and had to be taken to the shops for repairs. The platform of the other car was also broken up considerably. There were only a few passengers on the outgoing car who were transferred to another car, and taken to their destination.

BELIEVER IN STOCK LAW.

Experience in Selling Beef Cattle Converts Mr. W. A. Moore.

"I was formerly opposed to the State-wide stock law but I want to say right here that a recent experience I have had has converted me to the other side," said Mr. W. A. Moore, of Southport, in conversation with several gentlemen yesterday in The Star office. "I recently sold a hundred head of beef cattle which were later shipped to Virginia. The government has a quarantine law prohibiting the shipment of cattle from tick-infested districts into non-infected districts. The story of the running down of those hundred head of cattle by the government and the Southern Railway has already been told, and I shall not repeat it.

"I find that with conditions as they are at present in Brunswick that I am practically restricted in my sale of cattle to my own county. I cannot even sell cattle in Wilmington without violating the law. Not only that but the United States government refuses to exterminate the tick from those sections where we do not have the stock law, and I find that I have suffered much loss from that source. I recently purchased two fine bulls, both of which died from tick fever, after being turned into the woods range.

"Another way in which we suffer greatly from the lack of a stock law is from hog cholera. When hogs roam the woods it is easy for one herd of hogs to spread the cholera over an indefinite area when if they were confined the cholera could easily be stamped out. Our loss from this alone is a great deal.

"Yes, sir, I am a believer in a State-wide stock law, and I certainly want it for Brunswick county. In the past I have fought it but I have seen the error of my way, and now I am most earnestly in favor of it," he said in conclusion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ADDRESSES.

Hon. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn, Will Speak at Immanuel Church.

Hon. J. A. Brown, of Chadbourn, president of the North Carolina Sunday School Association, will deliver two addresses in Wilmington Sunday, speaking at the Immanuel Presbyterian church at both morning and evening services. Mr. Brown has recently made a number of addresses at different points in the State. Since his election as leader of the Sunday School forces of the State he has devoted much time to the work, and has proven himself to be the right man in the right place. He is a speaker of ability, and there will no doubt be large audiences at both services to hear him.

New Cases on Docket.

Justice Harriss stated yesterday that the cases against Frank Ledley, colored, charged with violating the prohibition law, and B. F. Lane, white, charged with abandonment, have been dismissed. He also stated that there were several other cases in his court in which th warrants were issued several weeks ago that are still open. Among these are those against Mr. J. B. Farmer, charged with violating the State automobile law by selling machines without license; Mr. P. K. Mumford, charged with exceeding the speed limit while riding a motorcycle; J. R. Purnell, of Delgado, charged with getting money under false pretenses, and Thos. Edwards, charged, charged with embezzlement.

WILL GIVE AWAY BABIES

Salvation Army to Have Interesting Service Sunday Night—Half a Dozen Smiling Youngsters Want Homes.

Adjutant Mataxas, the beloved and capable local commander of the Salvation Army, announced yesterday that a feature of the Harvest Festival, a country-wide movement of the Salvation Army forces to raise funds for rescue and children's homes, will be the giving away of six babies at the service Sunday night at the Seamen's Bethel, corner Front and Dock streets. Further than that they are bright, smiling infants he would not say. Those interested are invited to come and see for themselves.

The festival begins Sunday night at the Barracks of the Salvation Army. A part of the movement locally is the raising of $150 to aid in carrying on the work of the rescue and children's homes located in a number of the leading cities of the country. Since January seven young girls from Wilmington have been sent to these homes.

At the meeting Sunday night Brigadier A. W. Crawford, of Atlanta, will be present, and will make an address. Mr. W. H. Reville, who will leave Monday for the training school in New York to prepare himself for an official position, will deliver his farewell address.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock an open air service will be held at Front and Princess streets. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock a public service will be held at Fourth and Wright streets. Brigadier Crawford will speak at both these services. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock an open air meeting will be held at Greenfield Park.

The meeting Sunday night will be at the Barracks of the Salvation Army, corner Front and Dock streets, at which time the babies will be given away.

WILL DEDICATE CHURCH.

Formal Opening of Pearsall Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Pearsall Memorial Presbyterian church will be formally opened tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and the dedication will take place tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and Rev. H. W. Koelling, assistant pastor of St. Andrew's The new church which is a mission of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, was completed some time ago, and is a gift of Mr. Oscar Pearsall as a memorial to his wife.

It is a handsome brick structure, located in East Wilmington, and is fitted up with electric lights, heated with hot air, and furnished with the latest church furniture and equipment. It is entirely paid for and insured. While the church was paid for by Mr. Pearsall a number of friends of the church have contributed towards the furnishings.

The services Sunday morning will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Koelling, and at night by Rev. Dr. McClure. At the dedication exercises the building committee of the church, of which Mr. E. Norfleet is chairman, will formally present to Mr. W. H. Sprunt, chairman of the board of trustees of St. Andrew's church, the keys of the church. The music will be furnished by the chorus choir of St. Andrew's Christian Society, under the direction of Mr. Bert Jones, assisted by the choir of Pearsall Memorial church, of which Miss Margaret Mills is the organist.

The work in East Wilmington has been in charge of Dr. McClure for the past 20 years, and the building of the church and its dedication is the culmination of his long years of earnest Christian endeavor. Services at the church will be held each Sunday by Rev. Mr. Koelling. There will be Sunday School each Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Mr. E. Norfleet is the capable superintendent.

On account of the dedicatory services Sunday night there will be no preaching services at St. Andrew's church. The Christian Endeavor Society will have services for those who cannot attend the meeting in East Wilmington.

CORN WITHOUT FERTILIZER.

Mr. D. R. Ormsby, of Rocky Point, Will Make 35 Bushels an Acre.

Mr. D. R. Ormsby, of Rocky Point, was in the city yesterday on business, and brought along several ears of corn plucked from his field of 13 acres. They were well developed, and at least 10 inches in length. Mr. Ormsby said that he did not use a pound of fertilizer on the entire 13 acres, and he is confident that he will make an average of 35 bushels to the acre. The land on which the corn was planted is the level alluvial soil common to that section; none of it being bottom land.

Mr. Ormsby stated that the land is well drained, and to this he attributes more than anything else the good yield. He did not plow it very deep, but expects next year to experiment along this line. The variety of corn he planted is a cross between the gourd seed and flint varieties. A storm in July interfered somewhat with the development of some of the grains, but otherwise the ears are almost perfect in form. The corn was planted 28 inches apart in the drill with rows five feet apart.

Mr. Ormsby said that the peanut crop was good in the section around Rocky Point, and that the cotton crop was also good, though he was not looking for a crop above the average in yield.

NO DECISION REACHED.

Herbert Mason Had Hearing Yesterday on Charge of Embezzlement.

Herbert Mason, the young man charged by Mr. M. D. Bright with the embezzlement of $15 from the store of the Crescent Cigar Store, had a hearing before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. He was represented by A. J. Marshall and W. P. Gafford, Esqs., while C. D. Weeks, Esq., appeared for Mr. Bright. The evidence against Mason is entirely circumstantial, and Justice Harriss reserved his decision until this morning at 9 o'clock. In default of bond he was committed to jail.

Mr. Bright testified that he placed the $15 in a certain place in the store on Tuesday night so that it might be used the next morning for change. The next morning it was gone. Only he and Mason had keys to the store. Two money bags were exhibited which had been found in a room upstairs near the store. Mr. Bright stated that they looked like the same ones in which he had placed the money though he could not positively identify them.

BASEBALL THIS AFTERNOON.

Giants and Co. B Will Cross Bats at Parsley Diamond.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on Parsley diamond at Hilton Park, Company B and the Giants will play the fourth game of the post series. Should the Giants win today this will tie up matters for as the series stands now Company B has won two out of the three games played. Bert Kite, star catcher during the days of the Eastern Carolina League, will be seen behind the bat today for Company B and Register, the premier pitcher of the City League, will toss the ball for Company B. Carr and Green will complete the batteries. Morton, who has just returned from Summer camp, will play shortstop for the Giants. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock sharp, and there will no doubt be a large crowd in attendance as this is expected to be one of the best games of the season. Both teams have been considerably strengthened, and will play star ball.

Sam Hall, colored, who was acquitted Thursday of a charge of larceny, was sent to the roads for 30 days for vagrancy. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs in a case against James McNeil, a negro boy, charged with assaulting another negro boy with a rock. Cleveland Williams, colored, submitted to a charge of assault and battery, and was fined $25 and the costs, but final judgment was left open until today. The case was sent to the Recorder from Justice Bornemann's court.

Surviving her are her aged husband, three daughters and three sons. The family have a host of friends who will sympathize tenderly with them in their bereavement. Mrs. Rabon was a member of the Methodist church, and her many Christian virtues caused her to be greatly loved and admired. The funeral arrangements had not been made last night. The interment will be at the family burying ground either today or tomorrow.

NEW BANK CASHIER.

Southport Bank Secures Services of Mr. J. R. Branch, of This City.

The following from this week's issue of the Southport News will be of interest to Mr. J. R. Brach's many friends in this city:

"Mr. J. R. Branch, of Wilmington, arrived Saturday and has taken up his duties as cashier of the Bank of Brunswick, succeeding Mr. C. G. Ruark, resigned. After a well earned vacation Mr. Ruark will leave about October 1st for Richmond, Va., where he has accepted a responsible position with one of the leading banfs there—the Merchants' National. We heartily welcome Mr. Branch to our community, at the same time we regret to lose Mr. Ruark."

Strict Instructions to Officers.

Sheriff Cowan received yesterday a letter of instructions from the Secretary of State regarding the enforcement of the State automobile law. All county officers including sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, policemen, marshals, watchmen and constables are directed to see that no automobile or motorcycle be allowed to run anywhere without the license number properly displayed. No person can operate a car without having a license for the current year. The speed limit within the business section in towns and cities is ten miles an hour, in the residential section it is 15 miles an hour and elsewhere 25 miles an hour. Persons violating the automobile law are subject to a fine of $50 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days upon conviction before any justice of the peace or other officer having jurisdiction.

When some persons begin to quote "To the pure all things are pure," "Evil to him who evil thinks," et cetera, you may be pretty sure they are going to champion something nasty.—New Bedford Mercury.

FAVORS CONCURRENT BOARD

Chamber of Commerce Wants Second Municipal Body to Act as Check on Council—Against Present Form.

"In view of the very unsatisfactory experience of this city with the commission form of government, in which neither efficiency nor economy has been demonstrated, and to the end that no further experimentations may be made at the cost of taxpayers, be it resolved:

"First—That the inability to command the services of men competent as public administrators has rendered the experiment in commission government a failure;

"Second—That we strongly favor the creation of a second chamber, with limited powers of concurrence, and urge upon the senator from this district and the representative from this county to give serious consideration to the suggestion."

The above resolution sets forth in clear and concise form the action of the Chamber of Commerce in called meeting yesterday afternoon. There were three or four audible votes against the resolution in an attendance estimated at 75, though not all were members of the body. The vote came at the conclusion of a rather spirited discussion which lasted an hour or more, in which several phases of the municipal government were touched upon.

Two or more members of the City Council were present and one of them made brief reply to criticisms of the Council and asserted that the lack of coordination on the Council to which reference had been made existed almost altogether in the newspapers and certainly not on the Council. Among those who spoke on the resolution were Judge George Rountree, Messrs. M. W. Jacobi, Chas. N. Evans, Louis E. Hall, J. Allan Taylor and Councilman D. N. Chadwick, Jr.

On motion of Mr. Henderson Cole, seconded by Mr. M. F. H. Gouverneur, the president was authorized to appoint a committee to outline plans for the creation of the new municipal board, method of selection of the members, etc., and report to a special meeting to be held within the next week. The committee has not yet been announced but probably will be today so that no time will be lost.

Health Question Goes Over.

It was announced in the call that some phase of the health situation would be considered and this served to increase the attendance both of members and non-members, a general invitation having been extended to the citizens to be present. However, the health question, whatever it was, was not in shape for consideration yesterday and went over to a special meeting to be held some time next week. Dr. Thos. S. Burbank, chairman of the health and sanitation committee, stated that he received yesterday a communication bearing on the local health situation generally, but did not have time to get the committee together before the meeting. However, for the information of the Chamber he would read the communication and ask that the letter be referred to the committee for consideration and report at a subsequent meeting. The communication was accordingly read by Dr. Burbank, and referred by the Chamber to the health and sanitation committee. On motion of Mr. Chas. N. Evans, seconded by Mr. M. W. Jacobi, the newspapers were requested to withhold reference to the contents of the communication until it comes up formally through the committee. Mr. J. Allan Taylor said that he had no objection to the communication taking this course, but insisted that the committee get together immediately, consider the communication along with any others that might be brought before it and make report certainly within the next week. It was decided that prompt action would be taken.

While nothing was said with regard to the matter yesterday it is presumed that at the special meeting to consider health matters the Chamber will take some action on the question of dissolving the consolidated city and county health department.

To Corporation Commission.

Mr. J. Allan Taylor brought to the attention of the Chamber the fact that the Atlantic Coast Line and Southern Railway had taken off the parlor car service between Wilmington and Greensboro on the A. & Y. passenger train leaving Wilmington at 8:45 A. M. and arriving in Greensboro at 4:37 P. M. He said that he had taken the matter up with the Atlantic Coast Line, but had not received any assurance that the service would be re-instated. The Greensboro Chamber of Commerce also has taken up the question with the railroads. Mr. Taylor wanted an expression from the Chamber of Commerce. On motion of Mr. Louis T. Hall the traffic committee, of which Mr. Taylor is chairman, was authorized to appeal to the State Corporation Commission if the railroads do not accede to the request to re-instate the service. All along the line between Wilmington and Greensboro there is general regret that the railroads saw fit to discontinue the service. It is generally hoped that the commercial bodies of Wilmington and Greensboro will succeed in their undertaking to have the car placed on again.

The Concurrent Board.

The resolution condemning the present plan of municipal government in Wilmington and favoring the creation of a concurrent board, was introduced by Mr. J. Allan Taylor. Not a great many members of the Chamber were looking for the resolution and a second reading of it was requested in order that they might grasp the full meaning of the contents.

Discussing the resolution and setting forth his reasons for offering it, Mr. Taylor asserted that it went to the root of our trouble in municipal affairs. The public officials, he said, are subject to just criticism; he had no ill will for members of the Council personally and nothing to say in criticism of them except in their official capacity.

There is no sub-division of our government, he said, that so affects the citizens, their pockets, their health, etc., as the municipal government and it goes without saying, then, that it should have our most serious consideration. It is a corporate government and should be administered on the same principles as a private corporation. It should be administered by men possessing the same qualifications that we would require in the management of our private business. The commission government per se need not enter into this discussion, he said.

In Houston, Galveston and many other cities it has been of great benefit. In our city we have sought to combine the commission form of government with the popular plan. The administration of affairs under the plan we have adopted has not met with popular approval. Large amounts of money have been expended, some of it probably could have been expended to better advantage. The tax rate in the city has gone to $2. There is no chance of its being lowered any time soon. Now the only thing, since we can't enlarge our bond issue, having reached the limit, can't increase our taxables or suffer higher tax rate, now that we can't budge either way—the only thing left for us to do is to take such action as will tend to bring about greater efficiency. About the only thing left us to do in this respect is to secure a second chamber in the Wilmington Council, whereby all proposed expenditures can be concurred in before they are made and the government brought back to what in his opinion is a safe and sane basis.

Men of large business experience have not been attracted to a place in the Council, he said. He had no criticism to make of the young men who have been elected except that they have not had the experience in business affairs. The money is being spent by young men of limited business experience and without any check whatever.

Mr. Taylor said that he had noticed that Councilman Loughlin, who had been disposed to be careful and prudent on the Council, had introduced a resolution at the last meeting whereby it was hoped to prevent hasty action on matters brought before the body. He argued that this shows how Councilman Loughlin feels about the body of which he is a member. Councilman Loughlin, he said, is young, too, and we do not expect him to develop into what we call a business man, for his profession is the law. But no matter how careful, how prudent Councilman Loughlin may act in his official capacity he is not the whole board, said the speaker.

From what is being said on the streets, Mr. Taylor said he knew that the affairs of the city were not being administered as they should be. Mr. Taylor considered it fairer to meet the Councilmen in a meeting and say to them what one thinks than to stand around on the streets and criticise them. He was glad two or three members of the Council and one or two other city officials were present to hear the discussion.

Mr. Taylor said that he did not know of any moneys being improperly expended, there had never been any charges that the Councilmen had done other than what they considered their duty in the management of the affairs of the city. But the lack of economy has been shown, said Mr. Taylor, from the reports of the meetings as published in the newspapers. Now, it is our duty, he asserted, as stockholders in this corporation to say what we think of it and suggest the remedy.

If Senator Bellamy and Representative Kellum, he said, can escape the steam roller that will be put up in Raleigh, said Mr. Taylor, it is hoped that they will do something to give us a greater sense in government, greater sense in economy and greater sense of efficiency in government.

"The point is that something ought to be done," said Mr. Taylor in conclusion.

Councilman Chadwick Replies.

Councilman D. N. Chadwick, Jr., in charge of the Department of Accounts and Finance, said that some things stated by Mr. Taylor are true. So far as the statement made by Mr. Taylor with regard to the lack of co-ordination is concerned it is more of newspaper reports than anything else, Councilman Chadwick said. He gave a brief resume of the condition in which the government was found by the present administration. The city was in debt $25,000 or $30,000. It is hoped, he said, to reduce the tax rate by another year. However, if the people want a Board of Audit and Finance to act as a check on the Council he saw no objection to the plan.

Method of Selecting Board.

Mr. Chas. N. Evans brought up the question of the method of selecting members of the Board of Audit and Finance. He did not think the commission form of government had been given a fair show as it has been in operation here only about two years. He considered the resolution of Mr. Taylor dealt with men rather than with the measure anyway. He said that if it is decided to have a Board of Audit and Finance Wilmington should not go beyond its citizenship to name the members of the board. It seemed to him that before the Cham-

..Theatrical..

Today the Academy of Music will hold open house, presenting two brilliant performances of the magnificent Henry W. Savage music show, "Little Boy Blue", and the event will signalize the opening of the Academy's regular season. Two performances will be given, matinee and night, and each will, no doubt, be attended by a large audience, such as the Savage attractions always deserve. The company numbers about three score, carries its own orchestra and a carload of scenery and effects. The Raleigh News and Observer yesterday paid the attraction high tribute, "Little Boy Blue" being enthusiastically received in the Capital City.

One of the most pretentious productions that ever emanated from Henry W. Savage's studios is "Little Boy Blue", the famous Viennese operetta which comes to Wilmington today.

It was originally given in Europe and was secured by Mr. Savage after he had witnessed its presentation in Paris, Berlin and Vienna—in each of which cities it was a sensation. "Little Boy Blue" was written by Rudolph Schanzer and Carl Lindau, who provided the book and lyrics and Henri Bereny, who supplied the score. It was Americanized by A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulton and was a tremendous hit last season in New York when it was offered by Mr. Savage at the Lyric Theatre. The cast is led by Otis Harlan, who created the chief comedy role in New York.

Seats for both performances are selling at Plunkett's.

The Great Field Show.

Twenty-seven, yes nearly 28 years of continuous success marks the history of the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels. Time tried and time honored it is an organization that has so strongly entrenched itself in the favor of the amusement public that the bare announcement of its coming insures a capacity attendance.

Every year Mr. Field produces a new entertainment. Musically, at least, no similar organization has ever attained the excellence that distinguishes the Field company. Even in the early days before this company attained the popularity now enjoyed, the musical programme presented by the Field Minstrels was most meritorious. In the heydey of their pre-eminence ,musically, the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels compare favorably with the high-class musical attractions that rely entirely on musical numbers to satisfy their audiences. Combined with gripping comedy and spectacular scenes, a more enjoyable entertainment is rarely offered than that presented by the Field Minstrels, and this big show pays its annual visit to the Academy Monday night. Seats went on sale at Bunting's this morning, with no advance in prices.

Anna Held Wednesday Night.

The sixth American tour of Anna Held will include a visit to Wilmington next Wednesday night at the Academy of Music, seats going on sale Monday morning at Bunting's.

This time she brings her All-Star Variete Jubilee company; under Mr. John Cort's management she has gathered a coterie of the very creme de la creme of European and American stars, which include such notables as George Beban, with a complete company, in that international successful playlet, "The Sign of the Rose," Andrew Mack, America's premiere Irish singing comedian; the Imperial Pekinese, entertainers "by command" of European royalty; Francis and Florette, stars of the art of terpsichore, Herschel Hendler, a pianophiend, rival of the great Paderewski; Chas. Ahearn and company of ten, in a riotous screamingly funny sensational act "Wheels Within Wheels"; while Mme. Anna Held, herself will offer a playlet requiring the services of a sirenic beauty chorus in a startling Parisian novelty, entitled "Mlle. Baby."

It goes without saying the scenic environment will be entirely adequate, and Miss Held's costumes and jewels are wonders of Paris creations, which can be seen far in advance of American styles.

At the Grand.

Headed by a big special two-reel release film, one of unusual power and exceptional value, the Grand will offer a superb Saturday's show today. In addition the Grand will offer jolly new music and plenty of comfort, so much to be desired these days. The price of admission will remain at 5 cents. The special release today is Essanay's "King Robert of Sicily," and it is a brilliant, valuable historical story, presented on an immense and most elaborate scale. A notable cast will appear in the production and the scenery will be a great feature. Every one should see this special two-reel release film, one of the best and most expensive ever manufactured. The Vitagraph's latest comedy, "Keeping Husbands Home", is also a bright star at the Grand to day. It tells how two wives get on to the trick their husbands are playing in order to attend "some" cabaret dance and what they do. It is a film of big laughs and will cause every audience to howl.

Bijou's Week-End.

When all else is dreary, when every other spot is gloomy, the Bijou is bright. It is the cheery nature of the theatre, combined with its big show and solid comfort that make it the favorite amusement spot. In fact, this theatre has prepared a wonderful and mammoth bill for the week-end, and will head today's show by a special two-reel release. There will be four swell films in all, with the special release, Kalem's most pretentious dramatic, "The Struggle," which is a powerful tale of labor and capital. It shows how capital does not often understand what is going on with its employes. It is a gripping, spectacular film, full of thrills from the very start. A great comedy film is also a feature today in "Bobbie's Long Trousers." It is one of the merriest of all photoplays.

"First Aid to the Injured by the Police Force of Berkeley, Cal." is one of the most instructive of all films and should not be missed. In the face of this big show today the Bijou will retain its tiny price of admission—5 cents.

THE CURRENCY BILL.

Its Entrance to Gauntlet in Senate Not So Triumphant.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Fresh from its triumphant passage in the House, the entrance of the Administration Currency bill to its gauntlet in the Senate was signalized today by a statement from Chairman Owen, of the Banking Committee, that he expected the measure out of committee and on the Senate floor for action by October 1st.

President Wilson's conference last night with Senator Reed, one of the committee Democrats, who has criticised many provisions of the bill adversely, will be followed, it is expected by the individual conferences with other Democrats who have shown opposition to the measure or criticised its vital features. With the aid of Secretary McAdoo, the President will endeavor to overcome some of their arguments and bring the Senate committee to the support of the bill.

Should Senator Hitchcock continue opposition to immediate currency legislation, his aid would enable the Republicans to prevent by a tie vote, any affirmative action or reporting the bill at once to the Senate.

Public hearings were resumed today with Andrew G. Frame, a banker, of Waukusha, Wis., as a witness.

Frame told the committee of 450 country banks in Wisconsin, he had canvassed on the currency bill; 309 did not care to join the new system, nine said they would join, but expected the plan to be modified; two small banks said they would join even though the administration bill was passed without change, and 130 did not answer his query.

The big Democratic majority in the House will be kept in Washington as a moral influence over the slender Democratic control in the Senate while the currency bill is underway, according to plans made today by House leaders, who definitely rejected, for the present, at least, the idea of a 30-day recess.

It is understood the President believes the presence of the House will have the effct of strngthening the administration's efforts to pass the currency bill in the Senate.

RESTS IN BROOKLYN HOME.

Body of Late Mayor of New York Reached There Yesterday.

New York, Sept. 19.—The body of William J. Gaynor, Mayor of New York, who died at sea September 10th, lay tonight in his Brooklyn home. In a drizzling rain it was lowered at 4 o'clock this morning from the high deck of the liner Lusitania to the city's boat, Correction.

A dozen stalwart sailors carried the body in its heavy lead casket from the mortuary chapel to the dock. The carpet of flowers under which it lay was removed and only the great American flag, placed over the casket at Liverpool, covered it as a windlass lowered it slowly 15 feet down an enclined plane to the deck of the Correction. When the Correction came to rest in her slip, eight six-foot pallbearers lifted the body over the gangplank to the hearse. The long vigil of the picked squad of police sent at 9 o'clock last night to the pier came to an end. They stood at attention, each man at his horse's head, as the casket was placed in the hearse, and then mounting their horses led the funeral train through the deserted streets. It was after 8 o'clock when they reached the late Mayor's home. There the body was taken to a large room. The committee appointed to receive it withdrew, the hundred policemen clattered back through the streets to their station houses, and the body was left with only the family around it.

It will remain there until tomorrow night. Private funeral services will be held there tomorrow afternoon and at their conclusion the body will be taken to City Hall, there it will lie in state until Monday morning when funeral services will be held in Trinity church.

Mayor Kline announced tonight that in appreciation of the extraordinary honors paid to the late Mayor by the Lord Mayor and corporation of the City of Liverpool as well as the citizens of that city, Mrs. Gaynor has especially requested the committee of arrangements to have the British flag entwined with the American flag in Trinity church during the services Monday. In further appreciation the British consul and his aides have been asked to occupy seats in the church with the family.

ber took action on the resolution it should have more information as to how the members are to be named. He said that he believed it to be a reflection on our city to call on the government or the Legislature to appoint a board over men we elect.

Mr. Taylor explained that the resolution did not state how the members of the concurrent board are to be selected, this being left open to the wisdom of the legislators, who would doubtless follow their usual commendable policy of ascertaining the wishes of the people before taking action. Mr. Taylor also remarked that the resolution does not say that the concurrent board is to be known as a Board of Audit and Finance. The name is immaterial. What is contemplated, he said, is the election of men familiar with corporate principles. He stated further that he was not contending for a change of men. He had stated that we do not have efficiency in the government, he said, but knew of no contracts that were not within the law or which were for things that are not needed. He again stated that he was glad the Councilmen were present to hear what he had to say. Those who discussed the shortcomings of the Councilmen on the streets should be willing to do so in a meeting where they are present to hear the remarks. Mr. Taylor said that he had expressed his views, if there were those present who held contrary views let them speak out or have no more to say after they leave the meeting.

Mr. Evans said that he thought he was justified in raising the question as to the method of selecting the members of the Board of Audit and Finance as when this board was in existence two years ago the members were appointed by the Governor. Mr. Evans suggested that if the Chamber took any action at all on the resolution that it endorse the idea that the members of concurrent board be elected by the people.

Appointment is Better.

Mr. Louis E. Hall, who has had experience in the city government as a member of the last Board of Aldermen, thought the discussion was straying from the resolution. Every one knew that there had been dissatisfaction with the city government for the past two years, no matter whether you call it criticism of the men or the measure. He was heartily in favor of having a second board and stated that he would like to see the members appointed as he did not believe much in the idea of the people here being able to govern themselves. However, the question is left open and the representatives could determine this point for themselves after getting the sentiment of the community. He thought that by all means the Chamber should adopt the resolution and thus make a start toward relieving the situation.

Haven't Got Commission Form.

Opening with some humorous reference to the fact that he is a "foreigner," being a resident of Carolina Heights, and, therefore, able to view the situation as an outsider, Judge George Rountree, who declared that, as a large taxpayer of Wilmington, he had some rights in the premises, went deeply into a discussion of the principles of municipal government. He said that he would not discuss whether or not the Council is capable, on this point he would reserve his opinion.

Judge Rountree said that he was astonished to learn that some members of the Council think they are popular. He said that he was not popular, himself, and did not come in contact with the people to any very large extent, but he had heard enough from those with whom he did come in contact to convince him that the members of Council were not very popular.

"However, that wasn't what I arose to say," remarked Judge Rountree. "The idea that we have had commission form of government. We haven't had any commission form of government. We have got it in name only."

Justification for commission form is municipal corporation, for it is, after all, corporate, and has private rights to enforce. By reason of this fact it should partake more of a corporation than a popular government. It should manage its affairs precisely as the affairs of a private corporation are managed, when it gets into trouble, said Judge Rountree. He said that he was a great believer in popular government, theoretically. We all at some time, think that we are going to the devil. Fifteen or 20 years later we think the conditions were pretty good. We live in constant agitation, which is educational. It is best for the people to rule, though they do make mistakes. The benefits will more than counterbalance the mistakes, while this process of education is going on. That principle applies to general government.

But it is different when it comes to a municipal government. We go into a court of equity. We are stockholders. The managers have so conducted the affairs that the corporation is in a bad way, and we ask for the appointment of a receiver, to take charge and get us out of trouble.

Judge Rountree then told of the experiences in Galveston and Houston, which had real commission form of government, and then again took up the discusion of local conditions, stating that at the time the commission form bill was drawn for Wilmington, the city was getting into debt. It occurred to some that what was needed was a business government. But what did we do? Struck out all the features of the commission form and elected men the same as under the old Aldermanic plan.

Judge Rountree said that the Board of Audit and Finance would amount to nothing if it had to be selected in the same way as the members of the Council. He would remove the naming of these men from local politics. It seemed to him not at all a violation of the American plan of government that the members of the Board of Audit and Finance be named on recommendation of leading business men of a community by a man who stands out far and beyond the local situation.

He discussed briefly the value of a checking board, and told of what was accomplished here through it under the old Aldermanic plan of government.

Judge Rountree said that with the exception of the row with the Board of Health, he did not know any complaint that could be made of the present Council that would not have been made of any similar body. Lack of experience in the handling of affairs of a city has been a drawback to the Council.

In conclusion, he declared that it seemed to him Wilmington ought to have a Board of Audit and Finance and, further, that it would be better to take the $100,000 it is proposed to spend for the extension of the sewerage system, and use it in moving the water intake up the river.

Judge Rountree was given very careful attention throughout, and when he concluded there was hearty applause.

Another Plan Suggested.

Mr. M. W. Jacobi said that now that the Chamber knew the condition, let the members set out to suggest the remedy. He declared that if the business men of Wilmington had shown interest on election day any way approaching that displayed in the meeting yesterday, they would have had business men in office. The service of competent men is needed and the city should be willing to pay for this service. It was not right to expect men to give up their own affairs and serve the city for a mere pittance. He was opposed to the plan of appointing officials. He suggested that a solution of the problem would be the reduction of the number of Councilmen form five to three, who, among them, would receive not less than $10,000 a year, divided according to the work they perform.

He considered it a waste of money to pay a chief of police for wearing ihs uniform and looking wise, while the real work is being done by the Councilman of Public Safety. The duties performed by the chief could be attended to by a captain at less salary.

The same is true through all the departments, he said.

Mr. Jacobi said that it is all right to be careful with the purse, but that there is such a thing as going too far even with economy. Much money has been spent under the commission form, but he ventured to say that the city had been benefited to the extent of every dollar that had been expended. He thought that if the charter is to be changed or modified in any way, it should be to change the number of Councilmen from five to three, with salaries sufficient to attract men of ability and experience, who will give their whole time to the office. His plan met the approval of many, and he was heartily applauded.

Mr. C. L. Kuhl asked to be allowed to say a few words, and declared that the great trouble here is that the people do not select the officials in accordance with the teachings of Christ.

Following his remarks, a vote was taken on the resolution, there being heard only three or four votes against it.

Suggs Is Bound Over.

Mr. W. C. Suggs, charged with getting money under false pretenses, had a hearing before Justice Harriss yesterday afternoon, and was bound over to the next term of Superior Court in the sum of $50. The charges were made by Mr. Zack Watters as a result of buying a bicycle from Suggs which the wife of Suggs said belonged to her. She went before Justice Borneman and got judgment against Watters for the amount paid for the bicycle, after which Mr. Watters had the warrtnt sworn out charging Suggs with getting money under false pretenses in that he representde the bicycle to be his own when in reality it was his wife's.

Death of Mrs. Mamie Stokely.

She was a native of Georgia, and lived there until a few months ago, when she came here to reside with her son, Mr. M. C. Stokely, who lives at No. 313 Red Cross street. The body will be taken to her old home for burial.

When It Comes to Using

ICE

The Independent Ice Company

without doubt offers in all respects the best Ice to be had in this market.

The water used is drawn from deep wells and is clear, pure and cold; it is distilled and double filtered, then reboiled making it absolutely pure.

It is then frozen at a very low temperature making Ice of the highest sanitary quality.

The best authorities on analytical chemistry prove our claim that no purer Ice than ours can be made.

Our Ice cuts clear and sure thus avoiding the waste in using so noticeable in other makes of Ice; therefore, careful and discriminating consumers will make no mistake in calling for our Ice on the grounds of purity, economy and general satisfaction.

Our delivery service is of the highest efficiency, combining certainty with celerity—early and late, and all the time on the job.

Our increasing sales prove in the most conclusive manner that we are serving the public with the real stuff.

Very truly yours for good, hot weather,

COTTON UNDERTONE STADY

Although the Market Was Not Particularly Active and Fluctuations Showed Considerable Irregularity.

New York, Sept. 19.—The cotton market was not particularly active today and fluctuations showed considerable irregularity. The undertone, however, was very steady, if not altogether firm, and closing prices were steady at a net gain of from 6 to 9 points.

Easier Liverpool cables and reports of clearing weather in the Southwest encouraged rather a sharp selling movement at the start and first prices were from one to five points lower, which active months quickly sold 6 to 8 points under the closing figures of last night as a result of scattering liquidation and pressure from local and Southern sources.

Liverpool was also a considerable seller here on the decline, which carried December contracts about 30 points below the high records of yesterday morning but offerings were well taken and the market soon turned firmer on reports that the trade was buying a good deal of the early cotton.

A broker supposed to be operating for the account of spinners was credited with taking fully 15,000 bales out of the market, in the shape of January contracts, on the early decline and the forecast for local rains in the Eastern belt, together with more numerous wet weather complaints from that section, helped the rally. Offerings showed a tendency to increase on advances above 13.20 for that position or 9 to 11 points net higher.

Realizing caused reactions of 3 to 4 points in the later trading but business was comparatively quiet after mid-day and the opinion was expressed around the ring that scattering speculative accounts had pretty well evened up for over the week-end or pending fresh developmnts.

The continued large English spot sales attracted some bullish attention, but as was the case yesterday, an unusually large proportion of the business was in other than American growths and English trade accounts remained of an unfavorable average although China was said to have been a better buyer in Manchester late yesterday.

THE WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW

Market Has Shown Continued Strength and Actovity With Prices Making New High Records for Season.

New York, Sept. 19.—The cotton market has shown continued strength and activity during the past week with prices making new high records for the season on the reports of damage to the crop from excessive rainfall in the South.

December contracts sold as high as 13.40 at the opening here on Thursday morning, or $12.85 per bale above the low records of last August and while this price seemed sufficient to attract a good deal of realizing, as well as considerable selling for a reaction, there has been good support on comparatively moderate setbacks.

Crop damage reports have been coming in from Eastern as well as Western sections of the belt, and private condition figures have indicated a deterioration of from 2.9 to 4.4 per cent in the crop outlook between the date of the September bureau report and the middle of the current month. This additional cause for apprehension of a short crop, have evidently made a considerable impression on sentiment and it was reported yesterday that trade interests were becoming more active buyers on all the declines.

There are many, however, who are not yet prepared to accept the extremely bullish view of the yield, several estimates from more or less prominent authorities placing the yield as from 14,500,000 to 15,000,000 bales, and buying has also been restricted by the expectation of greatly increased Southern offerings with the advance of the picking season. With clearing weather, bearishly disposed traders expect a rapidly increasing movement which they doubt the ability of the world to absorb above the 13 cent level, particularly in view of unfavorable trade accounts from abroad.

This theory on the part of some of those who anticipate ultimately higher prices combined with the operations of traders who hold more optimistic views of the crop and fear of a declining trade has held advances in check and doubtless accounts for considerable confusion of the sentiment around the local ring.

The supply and distribution figures of the census bureau indicated a domestic mill consumption of 5,786,061 bales for the season of 1912-13 and a reduction of about 100,000 bales in mill stocks of raw material as compared with the previous year.

HESTER'S STATEMENT.

World's Visible Supply and Exchange Figures as Tabulated.

New Orleans, Sept. 19.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 2,309,027 against 2,146,235 last week and 2,436,169 last year. Of this the total of American cotton is 1,389,027 against 1,193,235 last week and 1,652,169 last year, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc. 920,000 against 953,000 last week and 784,000 last year.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,228,000 against 1,307,000 last year; in Egypt 75,000 against 49,000 last year; in India 469,000 against 432,000 last year and in the United States 537,000 against 648,000 last year.

The movement since September 1st to date shows receipts at all United States ports 647,771 against 515,844 last year. Overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Pomotac rivers to Northern mills and Canada 9,506 against 4,785 last year; interior stocks in excess of those held at the close of September 1, 73,240 against 80,059 last year; Southern mills takings 125,000 against 109,286 last year.

Foreign exports for the season has been 434,204 against 287,595 last year. The total takings of American mills, North, South and Canada, thus far for the season have been 210,718 against 166,709 last year.

Stocks at the seaboard and the 29 leading interior centers have increased during the week 210,775 bales against an increase during the corresponding period last season of 255,670 and are now 83,191 larger than at this date in 1912. Including stocks left over at ports and interior towns from the last crop and the number of bales brought into sight thus far from the new crop, the supply to date is 1,182,114 against 1,074,687 for the same period last year.

STOCKS SENTIMENT CHEERFUL

In Spite of Cohesion in Speculative Efforts and No Predominating Motive, Investment Market Improves.

New York, Sept. 19.—Through the confused movements of stocks today it was impossible to trace the thread of a predominating motive in speculation. Strength of the Coalers, the Hill stocks, and a number of high grade industrials gave the list temporary strength for a time, but the advance in these shares were offset by heaviness of Union Pacific, Steel, Amalgamated Copper and Rock Island stocks and bonds.

In spite of the lack of cohesion in speculative efforts, professional sentiment was cheerful. Continued improvement in the investment market was indicated by the ready absorption of $10,000,000 Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2 per cent equipment trust certificates sold on a 5 1-4 per cent. basis. The success of this issue, following the recent sale of a similar Southern Pacific issue of $7,130,000, also on a 5 1-4 per cent basis, directed attention to the improved price of securities of this class.

Equipment trusts were selling not long ago on a 5 1-2 per cent basis. There was a firmer tendency in money rates for the longer dates. The week's currency movements indicated that the banks had made a gain in cash. Forecasts suggested an increase in cash holdings of $4,000,000 or $5,000,000.

Bonds prices were mostly lower. Total sales, par value, $1,280,000. United States 2s registered and 4s coupon declined 1-4, the 2s coupon 3-4, and Panama 2s 1-2c on call. Total sales were 402,000 shares, including American Tobacco 100; A. C. L. 200; C. & O., 900; Lehigh Valley 15,300; N. & W., 800, Reading 1.3,800; S. A. COMMISSION URGES RAILROADS' OFFER when the first proposal was submitted, his argument at that time being in line with the position of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, and now he has apparently changed without any explanation or modification of his former argument, he said. Mr. Taylor declared that evidently he is trying to destroy North Carolina water points or is attempting something that he knows can never be enacted. As a public official he is subject to criticism, Mr. Taylor said, and the only regret of the speaker was that the official in question was not present so he could say more, for, he said, there is ground for it.

Southern Controls Situation.

Mr. Taylor asserted that the Southern Railway controls the situation absolutely. President Finley, of that road, he dubbed as a magnificent stump-speaker and stated that he had gone about over the State making speeches. Mr. Taylor criticised the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line, which are the two roads that enter Wilmington, for permitting the Southern Railway to control the situation without a loud voice in behalf of Wilmington, which has always been kindly disposed toward them.

Mr. Taylor said that 20 men of power are wanted to go to Raleigh next week on the freight rate matter. They will leave Tuesday night and be present when Legislature meets Wednesday morning. They should hand in their names by Monday, Mr. Taylor said.

The resolutions, prepared by Mr. Taylor, were read by Mr. J. G. McCormick, also a member of the freight traffic committee and well informed on the question of freight rates. The resolutions follow:

Resolutions Adopted.

"In the matter of the adjustment of inter-State freight rates to Norh Carolina erritory, the position of Wilmington has been fully set out to the public, but in view of the latest proposal of the railroads, now under consideration by the Governor and the State Rate Commission, we deem it proper to reiterate our position:

"We recognize the existence of gross inequalities which call for prompt and efficient remedy ,and to this end we stand committed irrevocably.

"That these discriminations are State-wide in their operation and effect, and that the State, in its sovereign capacity, should act in the matter with a breadth of view that comprehends all sections and promises universal relief.

"That these discriminations are against all parts of North Carolina in relation to the gateways, and any adjustment which does not carry relief to every part of the State would, of itself, be a discrimination hardly less gross, and infinitely more indefensible, than the discriminations against which the State now makes common cause.

"That to accept an adjustment giving lower rates to interior points, while leaving unchanged the relation of water points to the gateways, would be to shift the burden of the adjustment from the gateways to the water points of the State, eventuating in no relative relief to interior points while penalizing to the point of destruction North Carolina water points.

"That we renew our expressions of confidence that the State will deal with the subject in a spirit of exact justice to all sections; but should the regretable circumstance arise whereby the cause of common justice should be made subsidiary to local or personal interests, political or other, we pledge ourselves to defend our rights by every means within our power and without counting the sacrifice.

"Resolved, by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce that the latest proposal of the railroads is in derogation of the avowed policy of the State to adjust rate discriminations on a State-wide basis, and that the sectional character of the proposal precludes the thought that the State should seriously entertain, much less accept, an adjustment of such a sectional character.

"Resolved, That we call upon all sections of the State to stand in solid opposition to any settlement which does not give equal relief against competition with the gateways."

CYCLONE IN CONWAY, S. C.

Thousands of Dollars' Damage Done by Big Storm—None Killed.

Conway, S. C., Sept. 19.—Leaving ruin and desolation in its wake, a severe storm swept through this section yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, moving northeast, hewing a pathway about a mile wide, and doing an immense amount of damage, although causing the death of none. Several, however, escaped by nothing short of a miracle.

A tiny black cloud little larger than the proverbial "man's hand" appeared in the southwest about 3o'clock, accompanied by a muffled roaring, and in a short time the whole heavens were veiled in darkness and the storm was on. It burst in fury on Conway, moving at not less than 80 miles an hour. Rain fell in torrents. The wind ripped the roofs from buildings and demolished houses, hurled timbers hither and yon, filled the air with debris, tore up trees by their roots and smashed things generally.

The new Episcopal church in process of completion, was demolished. The high school building was greatly damaged. The residences of T. J. Bell and Rev. D. A. Calhoun, were unroofed, Mrs. Bell just having stepped from her room. A tree fell on the residence of Dr. T. McNeill and the residences of A. W. Barrett, Chas. Dusenberry, and the Burroughs Hospital were damaged. The total damage cannot be estimated as reports from the country are not at hand but it will total many thousands of dollars. That no one was seriously hurt or killed is regarded as miraculous.

Mr. Sulzer and Mr. Murphy have doubtless regretted many times that they did not find each other out earlier in their association.—Washington Star.

Those Senators who are obstructing the progress of the tariff bill are nothing less than gluttons for unpopularity.—Indianapolis News.

precluded a decision in the matter.

Meanwhile, Governor Sulzer formally conceded that he had no right to exercise the functions of chief executive, pending the determination of the impeachment. This he did in a letter to Lieutenant Governor Glynn, turning over to the latter a request for the extradition of a prisoner and explaining he had taken such action because of recent decisions of the Supreme Court, that the "executive functions should be performed by yourself as acting Governor."

After striving vainly from noon until 7:20 o'clock tonight to obtain enough anti-Sulzer votes to insure the passage of additional impeachment charges, Majority Leader Levy moved that the Assembly recess until next Thursday. The motion was adopted, amid shouts of joy, and members who had been imprisoned in the chamber for hours dashed for trains and their homes.

In making the motion for a recess, Mr. Levy announced that the Senate had adjourned until the same day, and that even if the board of managers put additional charges through the Assembly tonight, the Senate could not be notified immediately. He made an urgent plea for a full attendance next Thursday. The fight for additional charges will be resumed immediately on the reconvening of the assembly, and meanwhile the Democratic leaders w... use every means to obtain a full attendance. It is generally understood that the charges were completed today.

The entire session of the court of impeachment was given over to legal argument, and indications were tonight that Monday and Tuesday would be similarly occupied.

After the adoption today of rules of procedure, D. Cady Herrick, chief counsel for the Governor, formally challenged the right of Senators Frawley, Ramsperger, Sanner and Wagner to sit as members of the court—the first three on the ground that they were members of the Frawley investigating committee, on whose reports the articles of impeachment were based. Senator Wagner, president pro tem. of the Senate, on the ground that, in the event of the conviction of the Governor, he would succeed to "the profit and emoluments of the office of lieutenant governor."

Judge Herrick read a long brief in support of his contention to which Judge Alton B. Parker, chief counsel for the managers, replied, holding that the court had no power under the Constitution to exclude any of its members. This argument presiding Judge Cullen upheld.

A motion to dismiss the impeachment precipitated the second contest. It was made by Attorney Louis Marshall, who spent practically the whole afternoon session in reading a brief purporting to show that the impeachment was unconstitutional, based on the fact that it was brought while the Assembly was in extraordinary session, and entitled to act solely upon matters presented to it by the Governor.

THE ENGLISH STRIKE.

Situation in London Last Night Was Somewhat Improved.

London, Sept. 19.—The strike situation in London was improved tonight. The bus men who had not already gone out agreed to a truce pending arbitration by the board of trade of their demands on the employers.

The motormen and conductors of the Tillings Omnibus Company, however, will remain idle meanwhile, which will keep 500 busses off the streets. Two of the motor bus companies which have agreed to recognize the men's unions, will continue to operate their vehicles even if arbitration fails.

The danger of a railway strike is not yet over. The Liverpool strikers have accepted the offer of the managers to reinstate men who are willing to handle traffic which, under the law, the companies must accept, but they made their acceptance conditional upon the acquiescence of the men in Birmingham and other strike centers to the plan.

Birmingham labor leaders are still attempting to force a general strike. They met the committee of the National Union today and the result of the decisions reached will be announced tomorrow.

The strike has extended to Sheffield, Creweberry and other places. Dublin was quiet tonight, but the number of strikers there has increased.

At Manchester the trade of the port is paralyzed. Five thousand dock men are now on strike and the port is closed to business.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 19.—Thomas Morrell, a farmer, was shot from ambush yesterday evening while en route to his home near here. Two negro turpentine hackers working half a mile away heard the shots, but paid no attention to them. When they quit work at dark, they found the body riddled with bullets, on the side of the road. Three white men and a negro are held on suspicion.

MUCH BUILDING AT BURGAW.

Not on a Boom, But Pender's Capital is Doing Considerable.

Burgaw, N. C., Sept 19.—While Burgaw cannot be said to be on a building boom, yet if reports are correct there will be several new dwellings erected in the near future.

Mr. H. M. Page is to build a nice large house on the west side of the railroad. Mr. N. H. Carter is to build a dwelling for himself as soon as he can get the material, also on the west side, and Mr. Ger Burton has purchased a lot from Mr. J. Ross MacNeal and will build on it, as also Mr. G. Kornegay, agent of the A. C. L. here, who purchased a lot from Mr. MacNeal and will build soon. It is also reported that Mr. C. C. Branch, cashier of the Bank of Pender, contemplates a residence in the same section. All of these houses will be on a part of the land Mr. MacNeal purchased some time ago and which he is improving greatly, building a handhome home of his own there. Mr. Burton is moving his saw mill from Rocky Point to a place three miles east of Burgaw where he will cut timber for some time to come.

Burgaw was without electric lights this week on account of the dynamo having to be sent to Wilmington to be repaired.

Mrs. S. O. Perkins is visiting her father's family, Mr. R. I. Durham——Mrs. D. F. Herring, of Georgetown, arrived this week and will spend some time with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Bannerman, the latter having returned from Hendersonville with her daughter.——Mrs. Zelma Wagoner is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bland.——Messrs. T. W. Davis and E. K. Bryan were here today taking testimony in a suit to be heard next week in Superior Court.——H. L. Stevens, Esq., of Warsaw, was here today to represent the town in the impounding case, which was not heard as it was sent to another magistrate for trial.——Messrs. Tom Hubbard and R. E. Herring, of Clinton, were here today.——Dr. H. B. Thomas, who has been quite sick, is on the road to recovery.——Mr. M. C. Bowden and wife left Thursday for their home at Galveston, Texas.

CAPTAIN OF THE PAMLICO.

Will be Tried in Baltimore on Charges of Misconduct as An Officer.

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 19.—The information that Captain H. B. West, the commanding officer of the revenue cutter Pamlico, which is located at this port, is to be court martialed at Baltimore next Tuesday morning on a charge of neglecting his duties and of being guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer, has created a great deal of comment in Newbern.

Captain West has been in charge of the Pamlico for several months and as the vessel lay at this port during the greater part of the time the officers have ample opportunity of making friends and acquaintances among the citizens and Captain West, who is a very agreeable person, has made a host of friends in the city.

A few weeks ago the Pamlico was taken to Baltimore to undergo repairs and to be equipped with wireless apparatus. Friends of the Captain have received messages from him and in none of these was there the least inkling of approaching trouble. The order for the court martialing of Captain West was given last Tuesday by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. In just what manner the charges originated and as to ho whe has neglected his official duties has not been made public and until the hearing has been concluded nothing definite will be known.

So far as is known this is the first charge of this kind ever to be brought against a captain of the Pamlico since she has been located at this port. In past years there have been a number o fmen in command and in each case, as with Captain West, they have mingled with the citizens of the town in a social and business way and have always been highly respected.

The Pamlico will return to this port during the next two or three weeks.

INSTITUTE OF BANKING.

Declines at Richmond to Pass Upon the Currency Bill.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 19.—While taking no stand one way or the other on the pending currency bill now before Congress, the American Institute of Banking today adopted a resolution in which the organization disclaims responsibility for the views expressed on the floor yesterday by Secretary of State Bryan and Senator Theodore E. Burton, of Ohio. The resolution states that "this institute disclaims any and all responsibility for statements made by invited speakers, and any opinions expressed or policies advanced by them are not to be construed as bearing the endorsement of this institute."

Dallas was selected as the next convention city. Officers elected just before adjournment were:

President, H. J. Dreher, of Milwaukee; vice presilent, James D. Garrett, of Baltimore; secretary, Walter B. Kramer, of Scranton, Pa.; treasurer, M. J. Mulcahey, of Minneapolis. Executive Council: E. K. Morris, Philadelphia; W. O. Bird, Denver, and Geo. H. Keeze, Richmond, Va.

President Byron W. Moser, of St. Louis, while presiding over the convention this afternoon, became suddenly ill and had to be put under the care of physicians. His condition, however, is not serious.

in the vicinity of the jail also were examined.

Report a "Farce."

Washington, Sept. 19.—Senor Perez-Romero, brother-in-law of the late President Madero and confidential agent here of the Mexican constitutionalists, today characterized as a "farce" the report of the military tribunal on the killing of Madero and Suarez.

"From independent channels and from all evidence that we have gathered," he said, "we have learned that Major Francisco Cardenas frequently has boasted in many public places that he had killed Madero himself, yet he was never even taken into custody.

"All our evidence shows that both President Madero and Vice President Suarez were assassinated in the National Palace before being taken to the penitentiary."

Cold Feet Too Early.

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 19.—Robert Vail, United States consul at Guaymas, denied today charges made by refugees at Los Angeles that he and Lieutenant Henly, of the cruiser Buffalo, stampeded them into deserting their Mexican homes, in response to President Wilson's desire.

"Those Americans who wished to remain in Mexico, stayed there," he said. "I merely showed them President Wilson's note to the American representatives in Mexico. There was no attempt to scare any one. Those who desired to leave Mexico locked their doors and departed in 24 hours."

Vail probably will return to Guaymas overland from this city.

Bryan Denies Appeal.

Washington, Sept. 19.—Secretary Bryan today denied the appeal of refugees who recently arrived at San Diego, Cal., from Mexico asking that they be sent back at government expense. The secretary telegraphed the Red Cross at San Diego to that effect.

Clash of Troops.

Eagle Pass, Texas, Sept. 10.—Two of a band of about 75 men, dressed as civilians but believed to be the advance guard of a Federal army, marching on Piedras Negras, provisional capital of the constitutionalists, were killed and others were wounded today in a skirmish with constitutionalist outposts 20 miles north of Piedras Negras. The supposed Federals were put to flight. Several of the rebels also were wounded.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC—We have been receiving requests for some time that we handle "Rough Dry" the same as the laundries in the larger cities; that is, wash, starch and dry the clothes, returning them ready to be ironed. Desiring to meet the demands of our customers, we some time ago agreed to handle a few bundles. We found that we could not handle same successfully, unless we were equipped with special machinery for that purpose. We decided, therefore, to install the special machinery. We now have same ready for use, and beg that you come and inspect the same. We will be ready for your bundle early Monday morning. Do not forget that we make a specialty of washing blankets.
